Prince Edward Island Railway.

THIS Railway was opened for traffic in the summer of 1875, and is now in regular running order, being well supplied with new equipment, and offers every facility for tourists in the Summer season.

It is 200 miles long. and connects all the important places on the Island. At Souris and Georgetown it reaches the most easterly parts of the Island on the open sea. and passing through Charlottetown, the capital of the Island, proceeds by way of Summerside, Alberton and Tignish, the latter being the most westerly point on the Island.

The scenery of the Island is picturesque; the climate moderate and bracing in the hottest weather, and the sea-bathing and fishing both excellent.

Daily steamers run between Shediac and Pictou on the Mainland, and Summerside and Charlottetown on the Island.

At Pictou and Shediac connections are made with the trains upon the Intercolonial Railway, which will be opened throughout in June next.

Excellent Hotels are to be found on the Island, and no more delightful summer journey can be taken than a visit to Prince Edward Island.

Notice.

Since the publication of the last edition of the COMPANION, short as the time has been, there have been many changes in the Parliament of the Dominion, as well as in the several Provincial Legislatures. In two of the Provinces—Quebec and British Columbia—a General Election has been held, resulting in the return, in both instances, of a large number of new members. The Editor has endeavored to keep pace with these and all other changes, and, in addition, has introduced one or two new features, which he hopes may have a tendency to increase the popularity and success of the COMPANION. The book is now read not only in all parts of the Dominion, but in nearly every portion of the British Empire, and it is satisfactory to know is every where regarded as an authority on Canadian affairs.

The Right Hon Sir JOHN ALEXANDER MACDONALD, K.C.B., D.C.L., (Oxon), LL.D., Q.C., M.P.

Hon. SAMUEL LEONARD TILLEY, C.B., Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick.

Hon. Sir ALEXANDER TILLOCH GALT, K.C.M.G., D.C.L.
 Youngest s. of the late John Galt, Esq., the author of many well-known works of fiction in English literature, who was for some years a Commissioner of the Canada Land Co. B. at Chelsea, Eng., 6 Sept., 1817. Ed. in Eng. M., 1st., Elliot, dau. of the late John Torrance, Esq., Montreal, (she d.) 2ndly., Amy, sister of the above. A dir. of the Bank of Montreal; a governor of the Univ. of McGill College; Presdt. of the Canada Accident Insurance Co.; and of the Canada Guarantee Co. Has been Presdt. of the St. Andrew's Society of Montreal. Was for many years in the service of the British America Land Co., and held the office of Chief Commr. of the Co. for a considerable period previous to his retirement from it. Was Presdt. of the St. Lawrence and Atlantic Railroad in 1852-3, and carried out the amalgamation of that line with the Quebec and Richmond, Atlantic and St. Lawrence, Toronto and Guelph, and Montreal and Toronto branches, forming the railway system now known as the Grand Trunk Railway, of which line he was a govt. director, 1857-8. Proposed resolutions in Parlt. in favor of a Federal Union of B. N. A. Colonies, 1858, which became the basis of the policy of the Govt., which he joined that year under the late Sir G. E. Cartier, and together with that gentleman and the late Hon. John Ross, proceeded as a delegate to England to urge before the Imperial Govt. the Confederation of B. N. A., and the construction of the Intercolonial Railway. Called upon to form an Administration, 1858, but declined. Was a mem. of Ex. Council and Minister of Finance, Can., from 7 Aug., 1858 to 21 May, 1862, when the Ministry was defeated on the Militia Bill. Held the same office a second time from March, 1864, to Aug., 1866, when, in his capacity of leader and representative of the British population of L. C., he resigned his office and seat in the Cabinet on the educational policy of the Administration. Apptd. Minister of Finance of the Dominion, 1 July, 1867, on which occasion he was sworn of the Queen's Privy Council of Can., and continued to hold office until the 4 Nov. of that year, when he resigned his seat in the Cabinet for private reasons. Was a delegate to the Charlottetown Union Conference, 1864, to that at Quebec, same year; a mem. of Confederate Council of Trade, Quebec, 1865; delegate to Washington respecting the renewal of the Reciprocity Treaty, 1866; and to the London Colonial Conference, 1866-7. Now holds appt. from Imperial Govt. of Commr. under the Washington Treaty for the valuation of the fishing privileges conceded to U. S. Declined the C. B., (Civil), 1867; the mission to Eng. with Hon. Dr. Tupper, on the Nova Scotia question, March, 1868; and the Finance Ministership, on resignation of Sir John Rose, 1869. Author of Canada from 1849 to 1859, and other pamphlets of public interest. Created a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, 1869. Sat for Sherbrooke (county) in Can. Assembly, from 1849 to 1850, when he resigned his seat; and for Sherbrooke (town) from 1853 until the Union, when he was returned to the same seat for House of Commons; retired at g. e., 1872. The consolidation of the public debt with provision for its redemption; the encouragement of direct foreign trade; the abolition of the Canal and Lake St. Peter tolls; and the issuing of Provincial Notes as currency, were among the most noticeable features of Sir A. T. Galt's financial administration. Though not now in Parlt., has intimated his disposition to re-enter public life in connection with the independent section of the Conservative party; favoring incidental protection or modified free trade, based upon the revenue necessities of the country. Is opposed to the prosecution of the Pacific Railway, except so far as gradually required in promotion of the settlement of Manitoba and the North-West.—290 Mountain St., Montreal; "Seaforth," Cacouna; Reform Club, London; St. James' Club; Stadacona Club; Rideau Club.

BROWN, Hon. GEORGE

S. of the late Peter Brown, Esq., merchant, Edinburgh, Scot., who in 1838 emigrated to New York, where he edited the British Chronicle newspaper, and thence in 1843 moved to Toronto, where he established the Toronto Banner, as an Independent organ of Liberal Presbyterian views, by the only dau. of George Mackenzie, Esq., of "The Cottage," Stornoway, Isle of Lewis. B. in Edinburgh, 29 Nov., 1818. Ed. at Edinburgh High School. M. in the same city, 27 Nov., 1862, Annie, eld. dau. of the late Thomas Nelson, Esq., of Abden House, Edinburgh. Founded the Toronto Daily Globe newspaper, of which he became chief political writer, 1844; founded the Canada Farmer, a weekly journal devoted to agricultural interests, 1864. Is now Managing Director of the "Globe Printing and Publishing Company;" and largely engaged in stock raising. A mem. of the Senate of the University of Toronto. Was a mem. of Commission apptd. to inquire into certain alleged abuses in the management of the Provincial Penitentiary, Kingston, 1849. Was for many years leader of the Reform Party of U. C., and as such called on to form a Govt. for late Province of Can., 2 Aug., 1858, which he succeeded in doing in co-operation with the Hon. A. A. (now Chief Justice) Dorion. Before it was possible for the members of his Administration to be re-elected, the House of Assembly passed a vote of want of confidence. He consequently determined to dissolve Parliament, but the Governor General (Sir Edmund Head) refused to grant a dissolution, when Mr. Brown and his colleagues at once resigned. He again entered Ex. Council, 30 June, 1864, as a member of the Administration formed to carry out the scheme of Confederation, being leader of the Reform section, then in a majority in the House, as Mr. Macdonald was leader of the Ontario Conservatives, and Mr. Cartier of the French Canadian Conservatives. Mr. Brown had in the Session of 1864 obtained a select committee to enquire into and report upon such changes in the constitution as might satisfy the just expectations of Western Canada. The Committee reported in favor of a Federal system, such as was afterwards established. He resigned 21 Dec., 1865, after the Confederation scheme was arranged, though the Imperial Act was not passed, owing to his disapproval of the policy of the Govt., with reference to a Reciprocity Treaty with the U. S. Was a mem. of the Charlottetown Union Conference, 1864, of that at Quebec in same year, and of the Confederate Council of B. N. A. Colonies for the Negotiation of Commercial Treaties, that sat in latter city, Sept., 1865. Proceeded to Eng. as a delegate on public business, 1865, and to Washington, March, 1874, on behalf of

Can., and the Empire, as joint Plenipotentiary, with Sir Edward Thornton to negotiate with the Govt. of the U. S., a commercial treaty. Declined the Lieut.-Governorship of Ont., 1875. Sat for Kent in Can. Assembly, from g. e. 1851 to g. e., 1854; for Lambton from latter date to g. e. 1857, when returned for North Oxford and the City of Toronto, (elected to sit for Toronto); for South Oxford, from March, 1863 until the Union. Was an unsuccessful candidate for Haldimand, April, 1851; for Toronto East, at g. e. 1861; and for South Ontario, in House of Commons at g. e., 1867. Called to the Senate, 16 Dec., 1873. PART III.

Explanation of Parliamentary Terms and Proceedings.

ADJOURNMENT.—See Interruption of the Sittings of Parliament.

AMENDMENT.—See Order.

AVOIDANCE OF A DECISION.—When a motion has been made upon which the House is unwilling to come to a vote, there are certain formal modes of avoiding a decision, amongst which are “passing of the orders of the day,” or “moving the previous question.” The former means that the House should—casting aside and taking no notice of the matter then before it—proceed to the other business appointed for that day; the latter, that a vote be previously taken as to the expediency of coming to any decision on the question raised. If “the previous question” be negatived as a matter of expediency, the motion to which it referred is only gotten rid of for the time, whereas a direct negative to the motion itself would be a proscription of it for the remainder of the Session, as well as a denial of its principle. With respect to a Bill, moving that it "be read this day six months," or "this day three months," is a mode of throwing it out without coming to an express declaration against the principle of the measure.

BILLS (PRIVATE.)—Private Bills are chiefly introduced to enable individuals or bodies corporate to undertake works of public utility at their own risk, and chiefly for their own emolument and benefit; but there are other private bills, which frequently come before Parliament, such as bills for adjusting claims to property between individual claimants, and Bills relating to divorce, naturalization, &c., &c. The expenses of legislation in such matters must be paid by the parties seeking the relief; and a deposit of $200 must be made immediately after the second reading of the Bill. After the second reading, if all the rules of the House have been complied with, Private Bills go to the Committee, and it is before this committee that proper attention must be given by the parties interested.

Individuals or companies may appear by Parliamentary Agents.

BILLS (PUBLIC).—A Bill is the draft or skeleton of a Statute. Any Bill which the Senate can originate may be introduced and laid on the table by an individual Senator without the previous permission of the House; but in the Commons, no bill can be brought in unless a motion for leave be previously agreed to. Permission having been granted, a Committee is appointed to prepare the bill. It is then brought in and read a first time, without amendment or debate, and a day is appointed for a second reading, previous to which it is printed and a copy furnished to each member. The bill, after the second reading, is referred to a Committee of the Whole House, at the sittings of which its details are considered, as its principles were at each of its several readings. Members are at liberty to discuss its principles at any of its stages, but no one is considered to have declared decisively in favor of its principles, unless by his vote he supports its second reading. In Committee, the bill is debated clause by clause, the blanks left for names, dates, nature and amount of penalties, etc., are filled up, and sometimes the bill is entirely remodelled. The blanks, as they are called, which are usually filled up in italics, are agreed to without a question being put, unless a member should propose to alter them. The next proceeding is, that the Chairman of the Committee should make a report to the House of the changes that the bill has undergone, which he does by presenting a copy of it to the Speaker in its altered form. The report of the Committee is agreed to without discussion, the bill is ordered to be printed, and it is then read a third time, when any further amendments can be made. If a new clause be added, it is called a rider. The last question but one is that the "bill do pass;" after this nothing remains except to determine its title, which used to be a general one for all the acts passed in the session, but in modern times distinct titles are used for each statute. During the progress of a bill the House may divide on the following questions: 1st, on the second reading; 2nd, that it be committed; 3rd, on the consideration of report of Committee in case of amendments; 4th, or that the bill be recommitted; 5th, that it be read a third time; 6th, that it do pass; 7th, the title of the bill. These are quite exclusive of any division in Committee, or any amendments, or of any clauses added to or expunged from the measure in or out of the Committee. Alterations are not usually proposed in a bill until after its principle has been disposed of on the second reading. Immediately after the passing of a bill, it is taken by a member to the bar of the Senate, desiring their concurrence, where it passes through the same forms as in the Commons. If the bill be rejected, no further proceedings ensue. When the Senate agree with the Commons in the principle of the measure, but differ on matters of detail, a conference usually follows between members deputed from each House, who generally succeed in adjusting the difference; but if both Houses remain inflexible, the bill is dropped. The same proceedings are adopted mutatis mutandis, when the Bill originates in the Upper House. The Bill having thus passed both Houses, remains with the Senate, except in the case of a bill of Supply, which is sent back to the Commons, to be by them presented at the bar of the Senate to the Representative of the Sovereign. The assent of the Crown is the final proceeding which converts a bill into an Act of Parliament. (See "Royal Assent.")

BUDGET (THE).—The Minister of Finance makes one general statement every year to the House of Commons, the object of which is to present a comprehensive view of the financial condition of the Dominion. Sometimes there are preliminary, or supplemental, or occasional speeches ; but the great general statement of the year has, for a long time past, been quaintly called "the Budget," from the French bougette, by a common figure of speech, putting the name of that which encloses, to signify the thing contained. The annual speech, known by that appellation embraces a review of the income and expenditure of the past year, as compared with those of preceding years ; remarks upon the financial prospects of the country ; an exposition of the intended repeal, modifications, or imposition of taxes during the session ; and a detail of the public expenditure during the current period with its grounds of justification.

CABINET.—The Government of a State or community is understood to signify the exercise of supreme authority, and includes the executive, the legislative, and the judicial powers ; but in popular acceptation it means only the first of these, the higher and more immediate functions of which are exercised by the Cabinet, a select body through whom, for the time being, the principal functions of royalty are discharged.

It is only since the adoption of the system of Responsible Government that any of the B.N.A. Provinces has had a Cabinet of Ministers. Before this took place, those who advised the Executive, or Her Majesty's Representative, were called, as they were in fact, Members of the Executive Council. They are here dignified by the same name as that by which they are acknowledged in the Parent State—they are called the Government, when the fact is that this word only applies to the three Estates which constitute the Government; but we have come into the use of the term usually employed in England, and as such it will be best to use it. When speaking of the Supreme Government of the Dominion, the people understand the Members of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada in office. The Queen's Privy Council for Canada is at present composed of forty members, but twenty-seven of these are not of the Cabinet. It usually includes all those who are bound to retire when a change of Ministry takes place. The Privy Council being more immediately responsible for the conduct of public affairs, their deliberations are always considered confidential and are kept secret. The head of the Cabinet, who has been entrusted with its formation, is called "The Premier," but more properly "the head of Her Majesty's Canadian Government." The Cabinet, as it stands at present, comprises the following offices:—"The Minister of Justice and Attorney-General;" "The Minister of Militia and Defence;"

“The Minister of Customs;” “The Minister of Finance;” “The Minister of Public Works;” “The Minister of Inland Revenue;” “The Minister of the Interior;” “The Minister of Marine and Fisheries;” “The President of the Queen’s Privy Council;” “The Post-master-General;” “The Secretary of State of Canada;” “The Minister of Agriculture;” and “The Receiver-General.” They usually resign when they have lost the confidence of the House of Commons, or they may be dismissed by Her Majesty’s Representative, and either House can, by address to the Governor-General, ask for the dismissal of his Cabinet or advisers. The members of the Cabinet or Administration, are supposed to agree upon principles of policy and legislation, and are expected to co-operate in Parliament, upon all matters and questions not specifically agreed upon as “open questions.” The office of Premier may be held in conjunction with either of the principal departments of State, though heretofore, (before Confederation), it has been usually associated with the office of Attorney General.

CLERK OF THE CROWN IN CHANCERY.—The Clerk of the Crown in Chancery is by right an officer of both Houses of Parliament. His duties are to take charge of all the Poll Books and Election documents ; to issue Writs of Election, &c., attend with those at the table when so ordered by the House ; and at the closing of each session of Parliament to read aloud the title of each several Bill before it receives the Royal assent by Her Majesty's Representative. We reproduce from Macqueen's Appellate Jurisdiction of the House of Lords that portion which refers to the duties of this officer in England :—“ The duties of the Clerk of the Crown do not now, as heretofore, require his constant attendance in the House of Lords. He assists when the Royal assent is given to Bills ; but has no concern with the business of the Appellate Jurisdiction. In an ancient manuscript, preserved in the office of the Clerk of the Crown, the following particulars are given respecting this ancient officer :—The Clerk of the Crown sitteth in the Upper House of Parliament, by the Clerk of that Court upon the Wool-sack, attending there all the Parliament, and is sometimes sent on messages to the Lower House ; and on the last day of the Parliament he readeth the Acts, and the Clerk of the Parliament giveth the King's answer ; where it is to be noted that all the time of Parliament, he sitteth on the right hand of the Clerk of Parliament, and when he readeth the Acts, he standeth on his left hand, which is the higher place, being on the King's right hand."

CLERK OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.—"The Clerk of the Commons House of Parliament" holds an office of great trust and importance. He, with two assistants, sits at the upper end of the table. The Crown appoints him by commission under the great seal. It is his duty to make minutes, not of the arguments held in the House, but of the decisions at which it arrives—in other words, to make a true and faithful record of all the proceedings in which it may be engaged; to see that they are correctly printed and distributed to the members; to read aloud all such documents as the House may order to be read; to perform the duty (without taking the chair), of president or moderator during the choice of a Speaker, putting a question and directing a division in the same manner that a Speaker would do.

COMMITTALS.—In common with Courts of Law and equity, the Houses of Parliament can punish all contempt of their authority, or disobedience of their mandates. Each House is armed with power to repress any aggression committed upon its rights, or any interference with its privileges; but in the case of the Commons the operation of this power is limited to the session of Parliament, committals by that House being invalidated by a prorogation. Either House can delegate to a committee the power of sending for papers and records, and of enforcing the attendance of necessary witnesses.

COMMITTEES.—Are, first, those of the Whole House, which may be to consider certain resolutions, as to the nature of which considerable latitude prevails; or the House resolves itself into such Committee, to consider the details of a bill, the principle of which may be discussed at any or all of its other stages; or there may be Committees for financial purposes, as those of “Supply,” or “Ways and Means” (which see). Secondly, there are Select Committees, chosen by ballot or otherwise, for some specific purpose—the number composing such bodies seldom exceeds fifteen members, except by permission of the House. Thirdly, Committees on Private Bills (which see). When the Whole House is in Committee, the Speaker vacates the chair, the Mace is placed under the table, and some other member is called on to preside, who sits in the seat of the Clerk of the House.

CONFERENCE.—This is a species of negotiation between the two Houses of Parliament, conducted by managers appointed on both sides, for the purpose of producing concurrence, in cases where mutual consent is necessary ; or for the purpose of reconciling differences which may have arisen. If the conference be upon the subject of a bill depending between the two Houses, it must be demanded by that House which is in possession of the bill at the time of asking the conference. It is the sole privilege of the Senate to name the time and place for holding a conference, no matter by which House it may have been demanded. Reasons in writing for the course resolved to be taken are usually furnished to the managers on both sides, in which case it is simply called “a conference.” Should this proceeding fail, a “free conference” must be held, which gives an opportunity for the managers individually, and unrestrained by any precise form of argument, to urge such reasons as, in their judgment, may best tend to influence the House to which they are addressed. A free conference is usually demanded after two conferences have been holden without effect. After one free conference, none other but free conferences can be held touching the same subject.

CROWN.-—In speaking of the Crown the reader must remember that the attributes and powers are exercised in Canada by a representative, viz., the Governor-General. Its attributes are :—

To give or refuse to bills “The Royal Assent ;” to cause the laws to be duly administered and executed ; to act in behalf of the whole community in its intercourse with other countries (but the Representative of the Crown can neither declare a war nor conclude a peace—this power cannot be delegated) ; to direct the Naval and Military forces within the limit of his Administration ; to administer the Public Revenue ; to prorogue or dissolve Parliament. The Queen’s representative, in appearing for the Crown, represents the source of justice and mercy, confers office, honors and emoluments ; but in the same manner as the Monarch acts, by Ministers, who are amenable to the Imperial Parliament, so the Representative in Canada acts by Ministers, who are responsible to Parliament, and the choice of those Ministers is the only prerogative which can be constitutionally exercised without responsible advisers ; but even in this, Parliament, or rather the People’s Representatives, exercise the controlling power ; for the appointment of such Ministers by the Crown’s Representative can have no practical effect, unless it rests upon men whose characters and measures prove generally acceptable to the House.

ESTATE OF PARLIAMENT.—Parliament fully assembled, consists of the Monarch, or his Representative, the Upper House and the Lower House. They are more frequently spoken of as the three branches of the Legislature. Neither House deliberates in the presence of the Queen's Representative, nor will either of them permit any allusion in debate to the opinions or sentiments entertained by him. The three branches taken together exercise none but legislative functions, and they must all consent or no law can be passed. But they have separate functions as well. The Monarch, or Representative, holds the whole Executive authority, and while the Lower House alone can originate Money or Tax Bills, the Upper House is deprived of this power. Nor does the Upper House possess the great function of trying impeachments, which is held by the Lords in Great Britain, from the simple fact, we presume, that there is no power invested with the right to impeach. But we will speak of each one separately :

HOUSE OF COMMONS.—The Speaker takes the chair at 3 p.m. daily. If there be a quorum, the business is proceeded with ; if not, the House is adjourned to the next day, at 3 p.m. Early meetings take place shortly before the termination of the Session, in order to expedite business and bring matters to a close; the House does not usually meet on Saturday, nor does it assemble on any holiday. No one can be admitted to hear the debates without an order from the Sergeant-at-Arms, which is generally obtained through a member. Twenty members, including the Speaker, constitute a quorum.

THE SENATE.—The time for the ordinary meeting of this House is at 3 p.m., unless some other time shall have previously been ordered. If a quorum is not present at thirty minutes after the time of meeting, the House is adjourned until the next sitting day. Fifteen members, including the Speaker, constitute a quorum. The Speaker of the Senate is an officer appointed by the Crown.

FINANCE.—See Budget.

INTERRUPTION OF THE SITTINGS OF PARLIAMENT.—The proceedings of the Legislature may be interrupted or suspended either by adjournment, prorogation, or dissolution.

Adjournment, as the term itself implies, is a postponement of the sittings or proceedings of the House, from one time to another, specified for the re-assemblage. When the sittings of both Houses are interrupted by Royal authority, it is called prorogation. Dissolution puts an end to the representative character of the individuals who, at the time, compose the House of Commons, and Parliament cannot therefore assemble until after a new election, except in cases hereinafter mentioned. The power of adjournment is a right belonging to each House and there are no restrictions to this power.

The House of Commons can interrupt or postpone any debate, defer the consideration of any measure, or altogether adjourn its sitting, but the practice is always to adjourn to some stated time; and we think there can be no doubt that, by the previous permission of the House, the Speaker can leave the Chair for a certain number of hours; but this does not amount to an adjournment, and could not be noted as such by the Clerk. But it must be remarked that the adjournment of one House does not adjourn the other. The Crown may, pending an adjournment, summon by Proclamation either House or both, and may direct either House or both to adjourn to any particular day. But while the power exists, a although in ormer times it has been frequently exercised in the Imperial Legislature, it has grown into desuetude there, as well as in the Provinces enjoying the privileges of their own local Legislatures.

An individual member may for a time interrupt the progress of business by successive motions for adjournment which may be repeated indefinitely, with this restriction ; no second motion to adjourn can be made until after some intermediate proceeding shall have been had. The motion in committee, that the chairman report progress, is equivalent to a motion to adjourn the debate.

Adjournment does not close the session, nor does prorogation terminate Parliament. The former is an act which either House can perform ; the latter is a power vested in the Crown, the duration of which may be subsequently shortened or extended as the Crown pleases. All unfinished business terminates and dies with a prorogation, but during an adjournment they remain in statu quo, to be revived on the re-assembling of Parliament. A member who moves the adjournment of a debate, or who is in possession of the floor at the time of an adjournment, is said to be in possession of the House with the right to re-open the debate which has been interrupted. This is not the case, however, when Committees of the whole House adjourn. Prorogation never extends beyond forty days, but it may be repeated from time to time by proclamation, and continue to be renewed until it is intended that Parliament shall meet for the despatch of business. The Crown can summon Parliament to meet at any time by giving fourteen days notice. Dissolution is the simple death of Parliament, and may be brought about in two ways, either by the pleasure of the Crown, or by lapse of time for which it was called into existence. There was a time when the existence of a Parliament terminated by the demise of the Crown, but a special law removed this provision of the Constitution. But there is no power in the Constitution by which a Parliament in Canada can be extended beyond five years. If Parliament, at the time of the Sovereign's death, be separated by adjournment or prorogation, it must assemble immediately, or within a reasonable period. If no Parliament be then in existence, the members of the last must again meet, and may serve as a Parliament for six months unless sooner prorogued. By the British North America Act, 30 Sec., it is provided that "there shall be a session of the Canadian Parliament, once at least, every year, so that twelve months shall not intervene between the last sitting, etc."

LAW CLERK.—It is necessary to mention this officer in particular, because the Rules of the House assign to him and the translators under him certain duties which must be performed to ensure correct legislation. He is appointed by the Crown. It is laid down as the duty of the Law Clerk to revise all public bills after their first reading and to certify thereon that the same are correct; and in every subsequent stage of such bills, the Law Clerk shall be responsible for the correctness of said bills, should they be amended. The responsibility is increased by the fact of all Bills having to be printed in both languages, English and French, before they can be disposed of.

MINISTER (PRIME).—see Cabinet.

MINISTRY.—See Cabinet; also Executive.

MONEY BILL.—See Supply; also Ways and Means.

ORDER.—By this word is meant an obedience to certain rules and regulations intended to facilitate the despatch of business, and preserve that necessary decorum so essential in all deliberative assemblies. The rules by which the business of Parliament is conducted are of two kinds ; one class the House possesses in common with all deliberative assemblies—another is peculiar to its own existence and powers. For the proper application of all these rules, the Speaker or Chairman's decision is had, and to this decision due deference is at all times paid. The Speaker, while in the Chair, takes no part in the debate, it being his duty to regulate the manner in which business shall be transacted ; to confine those members who address the House to the subject under consideration ; to give his opinion in all things which relate to order ; to put the matter in dispute into the form of a question upon which the votes of members are taken, and to declare the majority as soon as it is communicated to him by the Clerk. It is also his duty to declare the business of the House closed, and to see that the affairs of the House are correctly and properly recorded. After routine he calls upon the member whose motion stands first on the paper of notices, or who is otherwise entitled to precedence. All motions must be seconded, or they fall to the ground ; being seconded, the motion is handed in writing to the Speaker, who has to read it before debate can be had upon it—having been read, objections may be urged.

There are several ways by which a motion may be opposed ; it may be met by a direct negative, or by an amendment, or by a motion to postpone, or by proceeding to the next order of the day, or by moving the previous question, or by the simple motion of adjournment. A motion once read can be withdrawn without the permission of the House. It must not be forgotten that unless a speech is made objecting to a motion, neither mover nor seconder can speak a second time except in explanation. If, however, a debate does arise, in which an opposition is given to the mover of a motion, he has the right of reply ; but it must be understood that this privilege does not belong to the mover of an amendment. All are permitted to explain. The debate being ended, the Speaker or Chairman puts the question, and calls upon those in favor to say "Yea," and those of a contrary opinion to say "Nay." He then declares that in his opinion the "Yeas" or the "Nays" (as the case may be), have it. If his decision is questioned, the House divides, the "Yeas" rising and their names being taken down ; the "Nays" following ; the numbers are counted from the record and declared. When an amendment has been moved, the vote is simply taken on the amendment, and then on the original question. Should the amendment be adopted, it then becomes the substantive motion, and may be amended in the same way that the original motion was amended. Thus a number of successive amendments to the original motion may be disposed of. Any member is at liberty to interrupt another by "rising to order," which means that he rises in his place and calls the attention of the Chair and the House to a breach of the orders then being committed. In the debate it is contrary to order to mention any member by name; the same rule prevails in Committee of the Whole, except as regards the Chairman, who is sometimes called by his name, and not Mr. Chairman.

ORIGINATING BILLS.—All Bills relating to public income and expenditure, and all Bills usually called Money Bills, must originate in the Commons, and be introduced by the Government.—(See Bills).

PARLIAMENTARY AGENTS.—In England all the business transacted for private Corporations and individuals is attended to by what they call Parliamentary Agents, who are parties generally well up in the practice of Parliament, and who take off a great deal of the drudgery from Members. Parliamentary Agents are now employed in Canada, and are a very useful class of men. Being up in their business, they do not annoy the Members, nor neglect the interests they have in charge.

PETITIONS.—There are several regulations which govern the presentation of Petitions to Parliament, which should be attended to by those who are interested. Petitions to the House of Commons should be addressed to “The Honorable the Commons of Canada, in Parliament assembled.” The petition must be respectful, the statement of grievance or cause of complaint must there be set forth, and the whole must conclude with a specific prayer. Without a prayer to the petition, it would not be listened to, as the mere complaining for the sake of complaining will never be countenanced by Parliament, and the correct form is, after having alleged your complaint, to finish by connecting it with the prayer, beginning, “Wherefore your humble petitioner, &c., prays, &c., setting forth the redress and relief that is sought.” Signatures to petitions must be original; no agent should sign a petition to Parliament for any purpose. No chairman can sign for a public meeting, but the common seal of a corporation is received as the petition of the whole body. All petitions must be in respectful and temperate language; they should not animadvert upon the conduct of the Parliament, the Courts of Justice, or constituted authorities, It is not proper to make reference to any motion or subject under debate, or to a motion in the course of preparation. After presentation, all petitions undergo a close inspection in the Clerk's Department, and when the time comes for receiving them, the Speaker offers such remarks as their nature calls for. In England there is a Committee on Public Petitions, which takes this duty from the Speaker, and it appears to work well, for they frequently find it their duty to report the substance, and frequently the exact words of a petition to the House, and not unfrequently recommend such action to be taken as the case suggests.

PREVIOUS QUESTION.—See Avoidance of a Decision.

PRIVILEGES OF PARLIAMENT.—There are three kinds. 1st, The privileges which appertain to members individually. 2nd, Those which belong to the House in its collective capacity. 3rd, Those which belong to the two Houses jointly.

It is unnecessary that we should here discuss the points of privilege which appertain to the two Imperial Houses conjointly on the subject of assuming the supreme power of the realm. Amongst the privileges which the Commons claim are :—

The power of committing individuals to prison—the power of publishing matters which, if not issuing from such high authority, might become the subject of proceedings in a Court of Law—the power of directing the Law Officers of the Crown to prosecute persons accused of offences against the laws, or affecting the privileges of Parliament—and finally, of doing anything not directly contravening an existing Act of Parliament, which may be necessary for the vindication and protection of its own rights, in the exercise of its constitutional functions. Questions of privilege take precedence of all other proceedings, and are always in order. The privileges claimed by individual members are—freedom of speech and person, including freedom from legal arrest and seizure under process from the Courts of Law and Equity. This does not extend to indictable offences, or to actual contempts of the Courts of Justice. Members of Parliament are exempt from all duties, the performance of which might interfere with their prompt attendance to their Parliamentary calls. Privilege of Parliament, such as it is, continues for a convenient time after prorogation and dissolution.

PROROGATION.—See Interruption of the Sittings of Parliament.

QUESTION.—See Order.

ROYAL ASSENT.—The Act by which the Crown agrees to a Bill is called the Royal Assent; this assent is usually given at the end of a Session, unless there is urgent necessity for the Act becoming law without loss of time, in which case, the Governor-General, or the person administering the Government, comes down to the Upper House, and there, in the presence of both Houses, gives his assent. When this is done, either at the close of a Session or on a special occasion, the Governor-General being seated on the throne, the House of Commons is summoned to the bar of the Upper House; being there, the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery reads the title of the Bill, hands it to the Chief Clerk, who says in both English and French: “In the name of Her Majesty the Queen, His Excellency the Governor-General sanctions this Bill.” His Excellency specially manifests his assent to the Supply Bill. Bills to which the Royal assent is not given are pronounced to be reserved for the signification of Her Majesty’s pleasure thereon, and are mentioned in the “Official Gazette” as having been reserved for Her Majesty’s consideration. Unless a reserve is made in the Act itself, so soon as the Royal assent is given, the Act becomes a Law, and can be proceeded on before any competent Court. In England sometimes the Royal assent is given by Commission, but in a Colony such an event has never taken place, although there can be no doubt that the Governor-General has power to appoint a Commission to give this Royal assent.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.—This officer, although in attendance on the House of Commons, is appointed by the Crown. It is his duty to obey the commands of the House, to apprehend and take into custody all those who are committed for any offence by the House. All the messengers and servants of the House, except the Clerks, are under his orders. He has a seat at the Bar of the House, and directs all arrangements for the maintenance of order in the approaches thereto, and in the galleries. He is of course in immediate attendance upon the Speaker, from whom he takes all orders in connection with his duties. He is assisted by a Deputy.

SESSION.—The Session is the term occupied by Parliament from its commencement to its prorogation. An adjournment does not close a Session. Parliament is annually assembled for the despatch of business. There are certain important Acts which are renewed every year, and without which the Government could not be carried on, which compels the Government to meet the Representatives of the people, and render an account of the past years transactions once a year at least. Unless this be done, there will be no supplies. By an understanding, Parliament meets in the month of February, although circumstances sometimes arise to postpone the time. While the Crown has a right to summon Parliament where it pleases, it is generally understood that it assembles at the seat of Government. The House being assembled, the Governor General commands the attendance of the members of the Lower House at the Bar of the Upper House, and delivers a Speech from the Throne. This Speech is the first subject taken into consideration; no other business is commenced until the answer to it is given. As is stated elsewhere, the mere fact of one or both Houses adjourning does not terminate the Session; it can only terminate by being prorogued by the Crown. All bills and other measures left unfinished, when the prorogation takes place, are dead, and parties who wish to revive them must recommence their labours at the next Session, as if nothing had been done in the premises. The mere assembling of members does not constitute a Session—one Bill, at least, must pass both Houses and receive the Royal Assent, before it can be called a Session.

SPEAKER—Beyond all doubt this officer was designated Speaker, from the fact of his being the spokesman of the Commons in their intercourse with the Crown. He is the presiding officer of the body. He reads all communications which come from the Queen's Representative to the Commons; he has to present and read such addresses and petitions as are carried up to the Governor-General by the Whole House, and to deliver the usual speeches, on the part of the Commons, when presenting the Supply Bill, and other Bills calling for peculiar note and remark. Through him, all witnesses and prisoners at the Bar of the House are examined, and he directs all arrangements when the House is to be addressed by Counsel. It is his duty to deliver the reprimand of the House to any one who has incurred the penalty of receiving it; it is also his duty to issue warrants of committal or release for breach of privilege; to communicate with any parties, when so instructed by the House. It is his duty to closely examine the provisions of private Bills, so as to protect the public against any surprise, or undue encroachment or injury; to control and regulate the conduct of subordinate officers of the House; to enforce the Rules of the House; he cannot join in any debate unless in Committee of the Whole House. As the presiding officer of the House, he has all the duties attached to such an office. The Speaker is chosen by the members of Parliament, and holds his office until the Parliament in which he is elected is dissolved. Should a member persevere in disobeying the order of the Speaker, and of the House, the Speaker may "name him," as the term applies, a course uniformly followed by the censure of the House. In extreme cases, the Speaker may order members or others into custody until the pleasure of the House be signified. On divisions, when the numbers happen to be equal, he gives the casting vote, but he never otherwise votes.

SUPPLY.—All proceedings which relate to the public income or expenditure must originate with the Commons, and must be begun by resolution moved in Committee of Supply, which is always Committee of the Whole House. In the course of the Session, estimates are submitted to a Committee of Supply, and resolutions moved thereon, granting to the Crown the sums requisite for the management of the various departments of the Government, and the support of various public and private institutions. Such as are confirmed by the Committee of Supply are reported to the House, where they are again re-considered, and adopted or rejected, as the case may be. Upon these a Bill is passed, and this Supply Bill furnishes authority to the Government for disbursing the various sums appropriated. The Upper House may reject this or any other Money Bill, but they cannot alter or amend the substance of a Supply or Money Bill ; such a course would be regarded as an invasion of the privileges of the Lower House. Before any Bill can be introduced authorizing the expenditure of any public money, resolutions must be moved in Committee of Supply, agreed to there, reported and confirmed by the House.

THREE MONTHS (This Day).—See Avoidance of a Decision.

WAYS AND MEANS.—As the Committee of Supply relates to the expenditure of the country, so the functions and duties of a Committee of Ways and Means have reference to the funds by which such expenditure is to be met. Loans, duties, taxes, excise and revenue of every description, are submitted to the Committee of Ways and Means. The propositions of Government on this subject are reduced to resolutions, submitted, considered and decided on, and such as are agreed to are reported to the House. Those which may be adopted are embodied in a Bill or Bills, and in due course and form become the law of the land. As in supply the Upper House may reject these Bills, but can, not amend them, nor can the Upper House insert a pecuniary penalty in any Bill.

Declined the Chancellorship of Ont., Dec., 1869; and the Chief Justiceship of the Supreme Court of the Dominion, May, 1875. Apptd. Minister of Justice, 19 May, 1875. (Salary, $7,000). Is ex-officio a Commissioner for the management of the Interior Economy of the House of Commons. The following statement of Mr. Blake's political views is summarized from his speeches as a private member: "An Independent Liberal, prepared to give a general support to the Government, so long as they fairly fulfil their pledges, and show themselves fairly adequate to their great task; believes that the basis of the franchise should be widened and that efficiency instead of influence should be the passport to the public service; thinks political progress essential to political vitality, and advocates the fullest freedom of discussion on all topics affecting the public interests ; supports the adoption of a system of proportional representation, whereby, among other improvements, the strength of the various opinions held by the people may be more nearly represented in Parliament ; considers that, as the franchise is not merely a right but a trust, the wilful neglect to vote should be followed by temporary disfranchisement ; is opposed to the appointment of Senators for life by the administration, and desires their selection for a term of years by the Provinces ; thinking that the future of Canada depends very largely on the development of the great North-west, advocates the construction, as rapidly as the resources of the country will permit, of the sections of the Pacific Railway necessary for communication between that country and our interior seaboard, in conjunction with an extensive scheme of exploration and colonization ; believes that the cultivation of a national spirit is requisite to the success of the Union ; that the present form of connection between England and Canada does not possess the element of permanence ; that as the child grows into the man, so the State will come to maturity, and that (notwithstanding the enormous difficulties which surround the scheme), there is a possibility and hope of reorganizing the Empire on a Federal basis, so as to reconcile British connection with British freedom."—Cor. of Metcalfe and

A dir. of the Huron and Quebec Railway. Unsuccessfully contested South Victoria at g.e., 1867, and North Victoria at g.e., 1874, both for House of Commons. Was again a candidate for latter seat, 10 Nov., 1874, on the sitting mem. (Mr. Maclellan's) being unseated, when the latter was returned, but being again unseated, 4 May, 1875, Mr. Cameron was declared the sitting mem. on a scrutiny of votes. A Conservative, and opposed to the present Govt.—Toronto Club; "U. E." Club; Universities' Club (London, Eng.)

CAMERON, Lieut-Col. Hon. JOHN HILLYARD,
D.C.L., Q.C. (Cardwell.)

Descended from the Camerons of Glenevis in Scot. (See Skene's Highlanders of Scotland.) S. of the late Angus Cameron, Esq., an officer in the Royal Canadian Rifles, and formerly of the 79th (or "Cameron") Highlanders, by the dau. of Saml. Hillyard, Esq., of St. Ives, Huntingdonshire, Eng. B. at Beaucaire, Languedoc, France, 14 April, 1817. Came to Can. when very young. Ed. at Kilkenny College and Upper Can. College. M., 1st, 1843, Elizabeth, third dau. of the late Hon. H. J. Boulton (she d. 1844); 2ndly, 1849, Ellen, second dau. of Gen. Mallett. Studied law with the late Hon. H. J. Boulton, afterwards Chief Justice of Newfoundland, and subsequently with the present Chancellor Spragge, and was called to the Bar, U.C., Michaelmas Term, 1838. Called to the Bar, L.C., July, 1869. Created Q.C., 1846. Is a distinguished Nisi Prius Counsel. Author of A Digest of Cases Determined in the Upper Canada Court of Queen's Bench, &c. (Tor., 1840); The Rules of Court and Statutes Relating to Practice and Pleading in the Court of Queen's Bench, U.C. (do., 1844); Reports of Cases determined in Queen's Bench, &c. (do., 1845.) Is ex-officio a Bencher of the Law Society, and Treasurer of that body; Chancellor of the Univ. of Trinity College, Toronto ; a mem. of the Senate of Toronto Univ. ; Lieut.-Col. 3rd Batt. Toronto Militia ; Presdt. of the Provincial Insurance Co. ; Chairman Can. Board Edinburgh Life Insurance Co. ; a dir. of the Can. Life Assurance Co. ; and of the Beaver Mutual Fire Insurance Assn. Held the office of Grand Master of the Orange Assn. of B.N.A. for some years, and has been an Alderman of Toronto. Degree of D.C.L. (hon.) from Univ. of Trinity College, 1855. Was a Commr. for revising the Statutes of U.C., 1840, and for Consolidating the Statutes of U. C. and Can. respectively, 1856. Was Solicitor-General, U.C., (in the Draper Administration), from July, 1846, to March, 1848 ; and a mem. of the Ex. Council, Can., from May, 1847, to March, 1848. Declined the Attorney-Generalship, on party grounds, 1847. An unsuccessful candidate for Kent, 1848, and for Toronto, 1858. Sat for Cornwall in Can. Assembly from 1846 to 1851 ; for Toronto from 1854 to 1857 ; and for Peel from 1861 until the Union, when elected for that county to House of Commons. Defeated at g.e., 1872, and returned for present seat, which he has since held. Mr. Cameron's Parliamentary record includes the following : He introduced and carried the address to the Queen to exempt from the Eng. income-tax, colonial securities payable in Eng., the property of colonists, and was successful while in Eng. in having the address approved of by the Imperial Govt., and such securities have always since been exempted. He first suggested the invitation to the Queen to visit Can.; and the feasibility of a postal arrangement between England and the U.S., for the carriage of the Am. mails by Can. packets. As a strong Conservative he opposed the introduction of the elective principle into the L.C., Can., and was one of a small minority who opposed that measure in all its stages; he also opposed the secularization of the Clergy Reserves, and when that step was determined on, he was mainly instrumental in securing for the English clergy the rights which were reserved to them. He carried the address to the Queen for the removal of the disabilities which prevented synodical action in the Church of Eng.; and he prepared and carried through its early stages, the Church Synod bill, and when the bill was reserved for the Royal Assent, he remained several months in Eng. to obtain the Queen's sanction. A Conservative, and opposed to the present Administration.—“The Meadows,” Toronto; Toronto Club; Rideau Club; “U. E.” Club.

CAMERON, Hon. MALCOLM. (South Ontario).

S. of the late Mr. Angus Cameron, of Perth, Ont.,

and formerly of Argyleshire, Scot., by Euphemia, dau. of Duncan McGregor, Esq., of Stranire, Loch Lubnaig, Perthshire, Scot. B. in Three Rivers, P.Q., 25 April, 1808. Ed. at various places. M., 29 April, 1833, his cousin, Christina, dau. of Robert McGregor, Esq., cotton spinner, Glasgow, Scot. A Governor of the Carleton Protestant Hospital; a dir. of the Ontario and Quebec Railway; of the Marmora Iron Works Railway; and of the Royal Mutual Life Assurance Co.; a life mem., since its foundation, of the Agricultural Assn. of U. C.; Vice-Presdt. for thirty years of the British and Foreign Bible Society; and Presdt. of the Ontario Central Railway. Was engaged in mercantile affairs for many years. Has been most prominently identified with the Temperance movement as a leader and worker since 1832, and has filled the positions of Chief of the Social Circle, Grand Worthy Patriarch of the Sons of Temperance, M. W. G., Chief of the Good Templars, Vice-Presdt. of the Ontario League, and Presdt. of the Ontario and Quebec League. Declined the Inspector Generalship, 1841; but became Inspector of Revenue during the administration of Sir Charles Bagot, by which office the public revenue benefitted over $50,000 in one year. Was a mem. of the Ex. Council, Can., from 11 March, 1848, to 1 Feb., 1850 (in the Lafontaine-Baldwin Administration) ; and from 28 Oct., 1851, to 10 Sept., 1854 (in the Hincks-Morin Administration), during which periods he filled in succession the offices of Asst. Commr. of Public Works, Presdt. of the Ex. Council, Minister of Agriculture, Postmaster General, and a mem. of Board of Railway Commrs.; was also a Govt. dir. of the Grand Trunk Railway, then under construction. Was a delegate to Washington on behalf of certain Western mercantile interests to aid the Govt. delegate in the promotion of a Reciprocity Treaty, 1854, and rendered important assistance on that occasion. Visited British Columbia, 1862, and was appointed a delegate by the people to proceed to Eng., to secure self government for the Colony, a mission which was completely successful, and which led to the presentation of an address to the Secretary of State for the Colonies from members of both Houses of the Can. Parlt., recommending Mr. Cameron for the office of Governor of British Columbia. Held the office of Queen's Printer of Can., from 20 Apl., 1863, until 1 Oct., 1869. Sat for Lanark in the U.C. Assembly from 1836 until the Union of U. and L. Can. and for same seat, in Can. Assembly, from such Union until g. e., 1848 ; for Kent, from g. e., 1848, until g. e., 1851 ; for Huron, from g. e., 1851, to g. e., 1854, when defeated ; and for Lambton, from g. e., 1858, until Sept., 1860, when he resigned, and was returned to represent "St. Clair" division in the L. C., where he remained until his appt. as Queen's Printer, 1863. An unsuccessful candidate for Lambton in Can. Assembly, at g. e., 1854; for South Renfrew in the Commons, Sept., 1869; for South Lanark in the Ont. Assembly, g. e., 1871; and for Russell in the Commons, g. e., 1872; first returned to Commons, for present seat, at last g. e. An advanced Liberal. Resisted the constitutional aggressions of Sir Francis B. Head 1836, and of Lord Metcalfe in 1843, and sustained Lord Sydenham in carrying out the Union principle, 1840-41. Has been an earnest advocate of the secularization of the clergy reserves; abolition of imprisonment for debt; the right of females and married women to hold lands; homestead exemption; vote by ballot; municipal institutions; our right to make our own tariffs; the Canal system of the late Mr. Merritt; and the construction of the Intercolonial and Pacific Railways. Favors the Brown-Thornton Reciprocity Treaty. Voted against Col. Bowell's motion for expulsion of Riel. Being one of those who are never afraid to express their opinion, so that every one may know what they will do, he has no hesitation in saying that he is a pronounced friend to Independence, not that he is in any hurry, as he is satisfied with things as they are, but he thinks things are progressing—we are nearing our majority. He is not for compulsory voting, nor can he see the use of representing minorities, as he believes party government to be the best. He is entirely opposed to the Confederation of the Empire, which he thinks a great delusion got up by adventurers who can see good things for themselves in it; he sees nothing in it but the minification of Canada, enormous increase of expenditure, the degradation of every Canadian who would be sent to Eng., to sit on one side like a schoolboy, with 700 or 800 others, with whom he had no possible business to interfere, until a Colonial question—(connected with Canada, or a matter of war, or a universal epidemic)—should come before the House. What he would do with himself in the meantime would take a very clever person to explain. Being in favor of peace and the universal brotherhood of men, he cannot support Dr. Brouse's scheme for the military education of children. On the contrary, is of opinion that our Govt. would add greatly to its popularity if it would, by Ministerial delegation to the Govt. of the Mother Country, and to those at Washington, and at Paris, endeavor to obtain a treaty on the basis of decision by arbitration, in case of any difficulty arising with any one of these powers. The said difficulty to be referred to a committee of four persons to be named by the other two.”—“Sandfield Place,” Besserer St., Ottawa; Whitby, Ont.; Stadacona Club.

S. of a once extensive landed proprietor in Co. Roscommon, Irel. B. there, 15 Dec., 1824. Ed. in Dublin, and studied for the medical profession under his uncle, Dr. Chas. Devlin, of Ballina, Co. Mayo. Accompanied his father to Can. when young, and settled in the city of Quebec, where he presented himself before the Board of Medical Examiners for admission to the practice of the profession, but was refused on the ground that he was under 21 years of age. Entered the ranks of journalism, and founded the Freeman's Journal (Quebec), of which he became editor, but soon afterwards abandoned that paper on his removal to Montreal, where he was also associated with the press, becoming at the same time a student at law under Edward Carter, Esq., Q.C., and late M. P. for Brome in the House of Commons, and was duly called to the Bar, Oct., 1847. Called to the Bar of Ont., Michaelmas Term, 1868. Enjoys a large and lucrative practice, especially as a criminal lawyer. Is Counsel to the Harbor Commrs. of that city ; and was for some years up to Dec., 1875, joint City Attorney for Montreal. Amongst other important causes, was retained, during the late Am. war, by the U. S. Govt., as their counsel in the prosecution of the St. Albans' raiders. M., 1848, Miss Anna Eliza Hickey, of Brooklyn, N. Y. (she d. 13 June, 1875). Is Presdt. of the St. Patrick's Society of Montreal (an office he has held on several occasions), and a mem. of the Executive of the Reform Assn. of the Parti National. Was a delegate to the Catholic Convention to promote actual settlement in North Am., which met at Buffalo, 1856, and was elected a mem. of the Supreme Directory of Can. in connection with that Convention. Sat in the City Council of Montreal during seven consecutive years, and, while a mem. of that body, proposed the establishment of the Mount Royal Park, and finally succeeded in carrying the scheme, notwithstanding the most strenuous opposition. Was for fifteen years closely identified with the active volunteer militia force, entering the 1st, or "Prince of Wales," Rifle Regt., first as a captain, and eventually becoming Lieut.-Col. of the corps, and as such commanded it during the Fenian outbreak of 1866, on the eastern frontier, and for his services on that occasion was publicly complimented by Lord Monck, then Gov.-Genl. of Can. ; retired from the force, retaining his rank, Aug., 1866. An unsuccessful candidate for Montreal West at g. e., 1867; and for Montreal Centre at last g. e. Succeeded in unseating Mr. M. P. Ryan, the sitting mem., on petition, and at the new election, which followed, on 12 Jan., 1875, was returned. Unseated on petition, 26 Aug., 1875; re-elected, by acclamation, 26 Nov., 1875. "In politics, as in religion, he is not, and never will be, found to be a fanatic. His motto is 'justice and equality to all classes and creeds, undue favor to none.'"—118, St. James St., and St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal.

Pacific Railway Survey. Sat for Kootenay in the Local Assembly, 1868-9. Returned to Commons at g. e., 1872; re-elected at last g. e. A Liberal; and is "perfectly untrammelled, having neither received nor solicited any personal favor from either party. Will support that Govt. that will complete the pledges made to B. C. in the terms of Union; but should the electors direct him to assent to a modification of those terms he will do so; in the meanwhile (believing, as he does, that no concession of any important feature should be made), he pledges himself to vote with the ayes in favor of a strict fulfillment of the Treaty engagements ; with the Govt., if that is their policy, and against them, if, unhappily, the friends of B. C. are only found in the Opposition." Believes that "so far the promises made by Mr. Mackenzie's Govt. with reference to the surveys in his (Mr. D.'s) portion of B. C. are being carried out, and they have no reason to believe but that they shall receive continued justice at their hands, and every effort be made by the Govt. to ensure the best line for our national highway."—Hope, B.C. ; Rideau Club.

MACKENZIE, Hon. ALEXANDER. (Lambton.) P.C.

Third s. of the late Mr. Alexander Mackenzie, of Logierait, Perthshire, Scot., by Mary, second dau. of Mr. Donald Fleming, of the same parish; and grands. of Mr. Malcolm Mackenzie, of Strath-tumm'l. The family, consisting of the parents and seven sons, came to Can., 1842. One of the sons—the late Hope F. Mackenzie, Esq.,—represented Lambton and afterwards North Oxford in the Can. Assembly for some years. B. near Dunkeld, Perthshire, 28 Jan., 1822. Ed. at the public schools of Moulin, Dunkeld and Perth. M., 1st, Helen, dau. of the late Mr. Wm. Neil, of Irvine, Scot. (she d. 2 Jan., 1852); 2ndly, 17 June, 1853, Jane, eld. dau. of the late Mr. Robert Sym, of Perthshire, Scot. In youth learned the business of a builder and architect, and after arrival in Canada, became a contractor. For some years edited the Lambton Shield, a Reform journal. Is Presdt. of the Isolated Risk and Farmers' Fire Insurance Co.; and a Commr., ex officio, to assist Mr. Speaker in the management of the interior economy of the House of Commons. Was Major 27th "Lambton" Batt. of V. I., for some years up to Oct., 1874, when he resigned. Was a mem. of Ex. Council and Treasurer of Ont. (in

Mr. Blake's Administration), from 21 Dec , 1871, until Oct., 1872, when he retired with Mr. Blake for the purpose of confining themselves entirely to Dominion politics. Declined a seat in the Can. Cabinet, on the occasion of the retirement of Mr. Brown, 1865. Was leader of Ontario Reform Opposition in House of Commons from the Union until 1873, when elected Leader of the whole Opposition party and continued in that position until 5 Nov., 1873, when, owing to the resignation of Sir John Macdonald, he was called on to form a new Administration, a duty he succeeded in accomplishing on 7th of the same month, when he and his colleagues were sworn of the Privy Council, he (Mr. M.) taking the office of Minister of Public Works. (Salary $8,000.) Proceeded to the Mother Country on public business, June, 1875, and while there was presented with the Freedom of Irvine, Dundee and Perth, and visited Her Majesty at Windsor Castle. Sat for present seat in Can. Assembly from 1861 until the Union. Returned to Commons at g.e., 1867; and at g.e., 1872; re-elected by acclamation on his appt. to office, and again at last g.e. Represented West Middlesex in Local House, from g.e., 1871 until Oct , 1872, when he resigned. Several important public measures owe their existence to Mr. M., as a private member, viz. : the Act amending the Assessment Act of U.C. (1863) ; that consolidat'ing and amending the acts relating to the Assessment of Property, U.C. (1866) ; and the highly useful measure for providing means of egress from Public Buildings (1866). As Chairman of Committee on Municipal and Assessment laws (1866), wrote and framed the greater part of the General Act on Municipal Corporations, &c. All the measures of his Government, including the enactment of a stringent election law, with the trial of election petitions by judges, and vote by ballot ; the abolition of the real estate qualification of members ; the inspection of produce and weights and measures ; the better administration of Penitentiaries ; the enactment of the Marine Telegraph law, which virtually abolishes the monopoly of the Cable Company ; the establishment of a Dominion Military College, and the improvement of the militia system ; the enlargement of the Canals ; the permanent organization of the Civil Service ; the establishment of a Supreme Court for the Dominion ; the reduction of postage to and from the U.S. ; the free delivery of postal matter in cities and towns ; the opening of direct mail communication with the West Indies ; the construction of a transcontinental telegraph line ; the better administration of Government Railways; an improved copyright law; the adoption of a final route for the Pacific Railway; the opening of negotiations, conducted on our behalf by our own delegate in person, between Can. and the U.S. for the establishment of an equitable Reciprocity Treaty between the two countries; a new Insolvent law; and the establishment of a territorial government for the great North-West, have all been more or less moulded and directed by him. In addition, two very important questions, which for some time agitated the public mind and threatened the gravest complications—the Manitoba Amnesty and the New Brunswick School questions—have been satisfactorily adjusted, during Mr. M.'s administration. A Liberal; and “has always held those political principles—which by some in England may be considered peculiar—of the universal brotherhood of man, no matter in what rank of life he may have taken his origin. Has believed, and now believes, in the extinction of all class legislation, and of all legislation that tends to promote any body of men, or class of men, for the mere fact of their belonging to a body or class, to a higher position politically than any other class in the country. In our great colonies, while no fault is found with the political organization of the Mother Country, or of any other coun'ry, we take our stand simply and completely on the ground that every man is equal in the eye of the law, and has the same opportunity, by exercising the talents with which God has blessed him, of rising in the world, in the confidence of his fellow-citizens—one man quite as much as another. Believes thoroughly in party government and that it is utterly impossible to conduct the Govt. of a new country without it. Sees no reason to doubt that the policy which has always been held by the Liberal party, and which the present Administration are endeavouring to carry out, is one that will ultimately and at no distant day bring about that political peace which will enable us to discuss politics in a respectable way without being forced to consider Pacific Scandals and things of that sort, will bring into harmonious action all sections of the Dominion, enable every Canadian to be proud to speak of himself as a Canadian, and will promote the cultivation of a broad national spirit which must be cultivated if we are to become a great people on this continent. While an earnest advocate and upholder of the present connection with the Mother Country, he will always endeavour to maintain Canadian rights and to bring Canada into prominence in the eyes of the world.”—190, Wellington St., Ottawa ; Sarnia, Ont. ; Rideau Club.

MACMILLAN, DUNCAN, B.A. [East Middlesex]
2ND MEM.

A Liberal, and a supporter of the Mackenzie Administration.—40, Adelaide St., Toronto ; Bloor St., Yorkville, Ont..

MILLS, DAVID, LL.B. (Bothwell).

Family, which came from near Plymouth, Eng., proceeded to Holland in the time of Charles I., thence to New Eng. with the Puritans, and the descendants removed to N.S. at the time of the Am. revolution. S. of Nathaniel Mills, who removed from N.S. to Can , 1817. B. in the Tp. of Orford, Kent, Ont., 18 March, 1831. Graduated at Michigan University. M., Dec., 1860, Miss M. J. Brown. Was Supdt. of Schools for Co. Kent from April 1856, to April, 1865. Was employed by Ont. Govt. to define the North Western boundary of the Province, 1872. (See Report on that subject). Author of a pamphlet on The Present and Future Political Aspects of Canada (1869); and another on The Blunders of the Dominion Government in connection with the North-West Territory (1871). Elected a mem. of the Council of Public Instruction for Ont. (representing the School Inspectors), Aug., 1875. An unsuccessful candidate for a seat in the Council of Public Instruction, Ont., 1874. First returned to Parlt., for present seat, at g.e., 1867; re-elected at g.e., 1872, and at last g.e. An advanced Liberal. Favors the amendment of the Constitution so as to provide for the election of the Senate; for the appointment of the Provl. Judges by the Provl. Executives, and the complete separation of Provincial and Federal jurisprudence. Was opposed to admission of British Columbia into the Union as premature, and the terms of Union as preposterous. He was of opinion that with more than two thousand miles of unsettled territory between the Upper Ottawa and British Columbia, we were not in a position to undertake the responsibilities of governing the country upon the Pacific coast. He held that railway construction, if needed in British Columbia, was a work to be undertaken by Imperial rather than by Canadian authority. He was opposed to pledging Canada to the construction of a continuous line of Railway to the Pacific, as wholly beyond the resources of this country. He denies that there ever can be a through traffic of Asiatic or European products over the road of any consequence, and that no engagements yet made with British Columbia looking to the completion of the road can be fulfilled. He holds that since the Northern Pacific Railway has been built to the banks of the Red River of the North, that the Eastern terminus of the Canadian road ought to have been at Pembina. He holds that railway travel and traffic are not in any way affected by political boundaries, and that by utilizing the Northern Pacific we would have made it dependent upon the continuance of our trade over it to and from the North-West. Favors the government of Canada by the Canadian Parlt., and not by despatches from the Colonial Office. In favor of the establishment of Canadian Courts having Admiralty jurisdiction. Holds that power to legislate upon the subjects of navigation and shipping carries with it power to establish Courts to adjudicate upon matters arising under such legislation, in accordance with the well-settled rules of maritime law. Favors a national policy, based not upon principles of commercial exclusion, but upon principles of commercial extension. Thinks Canada has outgrown the condition of an ordinary colony. She has commercial relations with Foreign States, in which she alone is interested, and which she alone ought to regulate and control on her own behalf. Is opposed to the People's representatives abdicating their functions, either by failing to maintain an effective control over the expenditure of the national resources, or by surrendering to the Crown and Privy Council an important part of their legislative functions. Does not regard an enormous public debt as a national blessing; and believes that the prosperity of the country is to be promoted by habits of economy among the people, by encouraging a feeling of self-reliance and personal independence, and by fostering a spirit of patriotism—not flunkeyism—by which the interests, the prosperity, and the honor of Canada are made the paramount duty of her representatives, and not upon gigantic and costly works, built in wild and uninhabitable regions. Considers the present state as one of transition; and regards the Confederation of the Empire, for certain specified purposes, as the most satisfactory solution of our political future.—Palmyra, Ont.

MITCHELL, Hon. PETER. (Northumberland, N.B.) P.C.

Called to the Bar, L.C., 1860. Created a Q.C., 1873. Head of the extensive law firm of Mousseau, Chapleau & Archambault. Well known as a writer for the periodical press. Was one of the founders of Le Colonisateur newspaper, 1862, and of L'Opinion Publique, 1870. Author of a pamphlet in defence of Confederation against the attacks of the then Opposition, 1867, and of another brochure: "Cardinal & Duquet, Victimes de 1837-38." First returned to Parlt., for present seat, at last g.e. A Conservative and "as in the past will constantly labour to have British North America erected into a grand empire, under the auspices, and with the institutions of the mother country." In favour of a full and complete amnesty covering all offences committed in the North-West previous to the establishment of a Constitutional Govt. there.—27, St. Gabriel St., and 268 Dorchester St., Montreal.

NORRIS, JAMES. (Lincoln.) 2ND MEM.

B. in Argyleshire, Scot. Came to Can., 1834. A merchant, miller and ship owner. Is Presdt. of St. Catherines Board of Trade, and has been Mayor of St. Catharines. First returned to Parlt., for present seat at last g.e. Unseated on petition, 8 Sept., 1874; re-elected, 17 Nov., 1874. A Liberal; and "will continue to give the present Govt. a cordial support so long as their general policy tends in his opinion to advance the interests and promote the prosperity of the Dominion." In favour of 'British Connection'; encouragement of immigration; and the commencement at an early day of the Pacific Railway. Fully approves and endorses the whole Reciprocity Treaty, excepting what is contained in Schedules B and C, which refer to manufactures on the free list, and Article 4, called the Sliding Scale. These portions of the Treaty he will oppose, believing the manufactures of Can. are not yet in a position to compete on equal terms with older and more wealthy countries."—St. Catharines, Ont.

"In politics, has always been a Reformer, and having every confidence in the integrity and honesty of purpose of the present Administration, will give it his cordial support, and will always be found using his best endeavours to procure an honest, economical and efficient administration of the affairs of the country. Having been continually connected with the Volunteer Force from its first inception in 1855, it is natural that he should take a deep interest in it. Regrets, however, to say that its efficiency is not at all commensurate with the large amount of money spent in keeping it up; at the same time believing its maintenance to be a necessity, he will use every effort at his command to make it still more efficient (which he knows to be possible) without at the same time increasing the burdens of the people either in time or money. Believing that any change in our relations with the Mother Country in the direction of Independence, would not only not be for our good, but very much to our detriment, he will strenuously advocate the maintaining of the existing relations between the Dominion and the Empire."—"St. Duthus House," Dunelg, Woodstock, Ont.; Rideau Club.

CHURCH, Hon. LEVI RUGGLES, Q.C. (Pontiac.)

Descended from one of the oldest families in New Eng., his ancestors having emigrated from the Old Country to the then Colony of Massachusetts in the early part of the 17th century. One of these, Col. Benjamin Church, distinguished himself in the French and Indian wars, in which the New Eng. Colonists were engaged, having commanded the volunteer army, which, in a protracted kind of guerilla warfare, defeated and afterwards killed the celebrated Indian King Philip, who had given so much trouble and alarm to the early settlers. At the breaking out of the Revolutionary war, the Church family, respectable both in numbers and position, being Whigs, espoused the Republican cause, except two, who took up arms to defend the Royal prerogative. One of these was killed in battle and the other, Jonathan Mil's Church, was taken prisoner in 1777 by the Am. army, from whose custody he escaped and came to Can., and ultimately settled in the neighborhood of Brockville. He took an active part in defending Canada during the war of 1812-13-14, and died at a very advanced age in 1846. Second s. of the late Dr. Peter Howard Church, of Aylmer, P.Q.; and grands. of the above mentioned Jonathan Mills Church. B. at Aylmer. 26 May, 1836. Ed. at Victoria University, Cobourg. DEFEAT OF THE GOVERNMENT.

Amendment moved by Hon. T. B. Humphreys, 25 Jan., 1876 :—

“That this House strongly disapproves of the policy of the Government in borrowing large sums of money from Canada at a time when Canada is a serious defaulter in respect to the most important obligations of the Treaty of Union ; and this House is of opinion that in pledging the annual subsidies of the Province for money thus borrowed, thereby anticipating the stated revenues of the country, the Government have exceeded the powers granted to them under Act No. 4 of last Session.

YEAS :—Messrs. Brown, (New Westminster), Brown, (Lillooet), Morrison, Dickinson, Elliott, Smithe, Humphreys, Tolmie, Pimbury, Fisher, Vernon, Vowell and Mara.—13.

NAYS :—Messrs. Ash, Armstrong, Beaven, Walkem, Douglas Davie, Gallagher, Smith, Evans and Williams.—10.

POLITICAL ADDRESSES AND PARTY "PLATFORMS."

ADDRESS OF JOHN MACDONALD, ESQ., TO THE ELECTORS OF CENTRE TORONTO.

TORONTO, May 11, 1875.

*To Messrs. J. K. Kerr, Thomas Moss, M.P.; J. B. Boustead, J. M. Wingfield, D. Spry, John Downey, A. M. Smith,
John Smith, Robert Jaffery, John Musson, Dr. Aikins, and others :—*

GENTLEMEN,—

You advise me that at a meeting held in the "Albert Hall," Yonge Street, on Saturday, the 8th inst., I am nominated as the representative of the Centre Division of this City for the Dominion Parliament, and that the nomination received the unanimous approval of those present; and you further assure me that it meets with the approval of the Liberal party of the Division.

Allow me to thank you and such electors as have so expressed themselves for this mark of their confidence; allow me also to add that while the offer is very flattering, it is to me at the same time very embarrassing. If I were to consult my health and my personal interests I would feel compelled to decline. If I weigh the matter as you present it (although it imposes a large amount of personal sacrifice), I am unable to rid myself of that sense of obligation which (under such circumstances) a man owes to his fellow citizens.

' You are aware I have not sought the position for which you now ask me to accept the nomination. It has been, as you have put it, your desire; I can do nothing, therefore, but throw upon you the responsibility, which you are kind enough to say you will accept. You are pleased also to approve of my request that I will be allowed perfect freedom of judgment in deciding upon all questions. For this I thank you, for upon no other condition would I allow myself to be placed in nomination, and I am equally persuaded that upon no other would you request me. This being understood, I accept the nomination. I have no hesitation, therefore, in saying that upon all questions conducive to the good of the country, the Government will receive from me a cheerful support. More I do not promise; more, I am sure, you do not ask. Questions which I conceive to be hurtful to the country's interest, should such arise, I shall oppose.

It is not presumptuous in me to say that I would be of some service to the country in Parliament as a commercial man. Anything which disturbs the manufacturing and mercantile interests of the country deranges our entire financial system. Whatever changes are made in our tariffs should be made prudently and always with a view to its prosperity. Upon such changes it is not too much to say I ought to be able to express an intelligent opinion.

In reference to local matters, our city is essentially a commercial city. Its commerce injuriously affected, its property is at once depreciated. With its commercial importance its harbor has much to do. Whether its safety is endangered or not I cannot tell, but if it is, I do not hesitate to say that a sum amply sufficient to remove the possibility of such a calamity should be readily granted.

Should you do me the honor to return me, I shall use my best judgment; that I may err in doing so is possible—better and abler men have done so before. I shall not, however, be wanting in earnestness of purpose to promote, as far as I am able, the interests of this city, as well as of this vast Dominion.

I have the honor to be,

Your obedient Servant,

JOHN MACDONALD.

ADDRESS OF ÆMILIUS IRVING, ESQ., Q.C., TO THE ELECTORS OF HAMILTON.

To the Electors of the City of Hamilton :—

GENTLEMEN,—In soliciting your votes in my favor as a supporter of the present Government, I ask your attention to some of the most prominent measures which have been carried under their auspices.

We are now about to test, in this constituency, the efficacy of one of the most important of those measures, a New Election Law, which, in cities like Montreal, Toronto and London, has been found to work satisfactorily: This law secures vote by ballot, and has abolished the property qualification of candidates—reforms long agitated and much needed, but not taken up in earnest until Mr. Mackenzie obtained power.

It was equally necessary to pass an Act defining the practice for the trial of Controverted Elections, and thereby providing means for the more certain discovery of corrupt practices. These changes in connection with the new Election system will unquestionably secure Parliamentary representation in accordance with the voice of the people.

The Government has been successful in the formation and development of a plan for the construction of the Canada Pacific Railway, at an expenditure not in excess of our capacity to bear taxation, and framed to meet the general interests of the Dominion so fairly that it has secured the hearty co-operation of all the Provinces.

To the foregoing should be added the establishment of a College for the education of our young men in scientific pursuits connected with the Military Profession, with the object of utilizing their services as Engineers in the construction and supervision of our Public Works.

Also the reduction of Postal Charges, and the establishment of Free Delivery in cities.

A Supreme Court for the Dominion has been established, whereby the Constitutional Jurisdiction of the Provincial Legislatures will be determined; and as a Court of Final Appeal will save suitors the cost of carrying litigation to the Courts in England.

The consolidation and improvement of the laws relating to Insolvency.

A law requiring Railway Companies to furnish returns to the public of their capital, their traffic receipts and working expenditure, laying the foundation for the collection of information which will tend to counteract the insinuations which have been made against the success and resources of Canadian Railways.

The attempt to obtain a monopoly of our coasts by one Atlantic Cable Company has been frustrated.

The establishment of a Territorial Government in the North West, providing for the development of self-government by the settlers therein, based upon institutions similar to those prevailing in Ontario; and further providing that, in the establishment of a system of Public Education, the minority of the ratepayers in that new country, whether Protestant or Roman Catholic, may establish Separate Schools, and in such cases the minority shall be liable only to assessments of such rates as they may impose upon themselves in respect thereof.

Moreover, the present Government has settled for ever the unfortunate difficulties which followed the acquisition of the northwestern country, and has also quieted the discontent which had been engendered in British Columbia by the long period permitted to pass before beginning work on the Canada Pacific Railway.

Mr. Mackenzie restored confidence in the good faith of Canada by agreeing to carry out the suggestions of Lord Carnarvon, with which the Columbians had declared themselves satisfied, and the House of Commons has ratified and approved of his action.

By the adjustment of the tariff, and the increased duty placed against the importation of those manufacturers which compete with the manufacturers of our Dominion, a feeling pervades the country that the important interests of our own manufacturers will neither be overlooked nor jeopardised; and since the Government has imposed duties against such foreign products higher than had been imposed by any previous Government, agitation on this subject has not been active.

The addresses to you, issued by those who are rivalling Mr. Wood and myself in seeking your suffrages, cast no reflections upon the policy of the Government which we have supported, nor upon the measures which have been passed, and it might fairly be inferred that between the two sets of candidates personal considerations only were at stake.

My political opponents, however, have adopted one subject and one tune, and that tune they have sounded with a loud blast.

Their arguments are, that as we are the manufacturing centre of the Dominion, we should advocate a judicious system of protection, and that a patriotic policy with regard to industry would undoubtedly benefit the country.

These arguments are somewhat vague—they may mean anything or nothing—no plan being suggested as a practical limit of the extent of protection required, nor the class of measures necessary to develop what may be meant by a patriotic policy.

Some suggestion capable of being easily understood, whereby the condition of the working classes would be benefitted if such ideas are honestly entertained, would be of more practical interest, and might really contain something useful for adoption.

For myself, I can only say that my political opponents have no patent right to the cry of protection—and I repeat, as I have on former occasions asserted, that I will invariably support the manufacturing interests of the Dominion; and, of course, more especially those of this constituency.

Whatever may be proposed which will lead to the practical advantage of my constituents I will be glad to adopt or to advocate, but I can give no other earnest of my wish to discharge the duty incumbent upon one of your representatives than I have already done, during the period I have sat in Parliament.

To vote against Mr. Wood and myself is to vote against the policy of the Government, without apparently any distinct end in view. In the present state of our political world no other Government seems possible, and throughout the Dominion there does not seem to be any wish to embarrass Mr. Mackenzie by delivering such a blow to his Government as would certainly seem to be the object if the election of members for this city should be decided adversely to him, unless indeed it should be attributable to the incapacity of the Government candidates, or that we are to lie under the stigma of having secured our last election by corrupt means.

It would be absurd and unpatriotic to deny the propriety of constitutional opposition by means of the votes of the electors; but that the City of Hamilton, during a period of comparative political repose—at a time when the Parliament of Canada seems, by an overwhelming majority, to be supporting the Government in the development of the resources of the country—should reverse its not long past emphatic verdict, and should place itself in an attitude of hostility by returning two opposition candidates, would seem to be creating and fomenting a factious opposition.

For the success of the Government, and the ability with which it has been administered, I cannot claim credit; but without sacrificing personal independence, I have given that Government loyal support; and, in the absence of stronger reasons than have yet been made to appear, I believe your votes will prove that you are more disposed to confide your interests to supporters of the present Government than to those who wish to oppose the Government without being able to suggest distinct issues for opposition.

I remain,

Your most obedient servant,

JÆMILIUS IRVING.

HAMILTON, May 12, 1875.

ADDRESS OF HON. EDWARD BLAKE TO THE ELECTORS OF SOUTH BRUCE.

To the Electors of South Bruce :—

In deference to the views of political friends who think it an imperative duty, I have reluctantly taken office; and on this step you are now to pass judgment.

Should you decide favourably, I will continue my humble efforts to maintain the principles of freedom and justice, and the policy of progress and reform, with which, for some years, and by numerous elections, you have identified the South Riding of Bruce.

Should your determination be adverse, I shall in all kindness of spirit accept your dismissal, cheered by the memory of your past goodness, and sustained by the reflection that, while permitted to serve my country, I have striven earnestly, however unsuccessfully, to do my duty.

EDWARD BLAKE.

May 22, 1875.

ADDRESS OF THOMAS WORKMAN, Esq., TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST MONTREAL.

To the Electors of the Western Division of Montreal :—

GENTLEMEN,—Having been asked by a large and influential number of my fellow-merchants and manufacturers, and citizens generally, to become their candidate for the western division of this city, for the Reform interest, at the approaching election of a member of the House of Commons, I have bowed to their request, and accepted their nomination. In doing so, I have, in the first place, to return my most profound thanks to the great Reform Party for this renewed mark of their confidence and esteem. I did not seek this high honor ; but I did not feel justified in declining, when pressed to accept it. I believe every man who has the interests of his country at heart, ought not to shirk the responsibility of serving it, when called upon by his fellow-citizens to do so.

Before asking your approval and active support, it is proper I should plainly state my views on some of the important questions that are now agitating this community.

I solicit your support as a merchant, who has been actively engaged in business for over forty years, and who has, he believes and trust, never allowed his fair name to be tarnished in a single instance. When I formerly had the honor to represent Montreal Centre in the House of Commons I voted for the 10 per cent. differential duty on teas imported from the United States into Canada, because the Americans imposed a similar duty on teas going into the States from Canada. I disapproved of the abrogation of that duty, during the last Session, and if again returned to Parliament, will advocate its restoration.

With regard to customs duties, however, I cannot overlook the fact that Mr. Mackenzie's Government increased the tariff on all manufactured goods from 15 to 17½ per cent., thereby giving an additional protection of 2½ per cent. in favor of our own people, as compared with the tariff of Sir John A. Macdonald's Government.

I solicit your support as a manufacturer, who has for many years been largely interested in that important branch of national industry, and knowing from personal experience, the trials and difficulties which at present surround it. I have daily experience of the ruinous competition to which it is exposed from manufacturers in the United States, who make Canada a sacrifice market for their surplus stock, and rush through the length and breadth of our land, selling their goods at prices far below those charged in their own country, thus carrying off the ready money which ought to go into the pockets of our own people. If returned to Parliament, I will support any measure that will prevent this, and vote in favor of any tariff imposing the same rate of duty on American manufactures that they charge on similar duties manufactured in Canada.

I solicit your votes as a supporter of the Government of the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, because I am thoroughly convinced that he is a man of sterling integrity, and rare attainments, and that he has given to his country, his best talents and untiring labor. A workingman himself, he knows the wants of the working classes, and I am satisfied he will do all in his power to promote their welfare, as well as that of the whole Dominion.

I have been throughout entirely opposed to the rash and immediate expenditure of enormous sums of money required to construct the Pacific Railway. When in Parliament I spoke and voted against, and I opposed in every way in my power, though in vain, the Pacific Railway scheme of the Government of the day. Yet I believe no time should be lost in opening up and settling the vast agricultural lands of the Province of Manitoba, and all that region formerly known as the North-West Territory, especially to emigrants from the Dominion, of Canadian extraction, as well as to those from Europe. A practical and easy mode of entrance into those rich territories should at once be secured, and I believe this can be well, and at the same time, cheaply, effected by the combined rail and water route now under contract. Whatever the distant advantages may be in pushing a line of railway further across the continent to the ocean, I strongly object to burthen ourselves with a farther debt of not less than one hundred and twenty millions of dollars, at the demand of about twelve thousand inhabitants of British Columbia.

On that most important question, finance, I am entirely opposed to all extravagant and premature expenditure, and especially to such as is of an unproductive nature. We cannot guard too highly the credit and integrity of our country, and we can command the confidence of the capitalists of Europe only by keeping our expenditure within our income.

These are reasons for which I venture to ask your votes and entire sympathy. If they are acceptable, I trust you will give me both, and thereby return me as your representative, by a large and triumphant majority. Under any circumstances permit me to assure you of my profound and heartfelt thanks for the honor you have done me in asking me to be the standard-bearer of the great Reform Party.

THOMAS WORKMAN.

MONTREAL, September 20, 1875.

ADDRESS OF THOMAS WHITE, JR., ESQ., TO THE ELECTORS OF MONTREAL WEST.

To the Electors of the Electoral Division of Montreal West :
GENTLEMEN,—

By the action of the courts, the last election held for Montreal West has been voided, and I have now the honor to announce myself a candidate for your suffrages at that which is about to take place, and to solicit your support as the candidate of the Opposition.

At the last election, the returns of the Deputy Returning Officers left me in a minority of seven votes, and my opponent sat for one session in virtue of those returns. The result of the examination of the ballots, however, which was only obtained after great delay, caused by obstructions, since pronounced by the Court of Appeal to have been illegal, showed that an actual majority of fourteen of the ballots cast were cast in my favor, and that, taking the manifest intention of the voters, I had that majority in December last. It was proved, moreover, at the trial that the most disgraceful frauds and bribery had been practised by the parties opposed to me, while after a judicial investigation unparalleled for its severity and for the license granted by the Court to those who were opposed to me, the Judge found himself justified in saying: "I should here make "a general remark with respect to the general expenditure of "money, charged against the petitioner, White, that I find "him singularly free from reproach. I must make the same "observation with respect to his agents, that they were peculiarly cautious to keep within the limits of the statute "against corrupt practices at elections."

Under these circumstances I appeal confidently for the support of all who desire to see the law maintained and obeyed which has been wisely enacted to prevent the prevalence of electoral corruption.

My opinions on public questions are well known, as I am forced from my position as a journalist to discuss them at all times. I, therefore, content myself with a brief recapitulation of the views which would guide me, if honored with your suffrages.

I am a Protectionist, and believe that policy will best promote the interests of Canada. The war in the United States, the rapid accumulation of a large debt, the internal taxation thus rendered] necessary, and a greatly inflated currency, afforded to Canada a protection against American competition far more effective than any tariff arrangements of our Government. These causes are passing away, and this country is beginning to feel the effects of competition in a manner hitherto unknown. Against this the Government of the country should provide by a sound fiscal policy, which will have as its leading feature the protection of Canadian industries. The Government of Mr. Mackenzie have shown already that this is not the view by which they are guided ; having in the matter of the tea trade abolished a protection which they found existing when they took office, and having since persistently refused, notwithstanding the great injury done to this branch of commerce, to alter their policy. And Mr. Mackenzie has himself declared in the face of the competition to which I have referred, that so long as he remains a member of the Government, its policy will be that of free trade. Under these circumstances I believe a large commercial and manufacturing constituency like Montreal West should seize the opportunity to show the Government that its policy does not meet with the approbation of the electors ; and they can do this by electing a pronounced opponent of the Government.

I am opposed to the policy of the Government on the subject of the Pacific Railway, because I regard it as certain to entail unnecessary burdens upon the people, and to be chiefly valuable in diverting the trade and traffic of our great North West and the Pacific coast into the United States. The arrangement with British Columbia made by the late Government involved the building of a trans-continental railway through Canadian territory, by means of a company subsidized by large land grants and by such money subsidy as would not increase the then rate of taxation. The Government have abandoned that arrangement, and have entered into a compact with the Imperial Government to build the railway from Lake Superior to the Pacific, including sixty-five miles of additional railway and a waggon road in British Columbia. Contracts have already been given out on this work, at rates which make it certain to cost far more than was originally intended ; and when completed, we shall only be able to reach the territory for seven months in the year by American railways. Such a policy is opposed to Canadian, however much it may favor American interests, and, if elected, it would have my determined opposition.

At the same time I believe it is the duty of the Government to devote its best energies to the development of the North West, and that every effort should be made to keep faith with British Columbia, according to the terms of the original agreement, so far as this can be done without imposing undue burdens upon the people of Canada.

I am opposed to the policy of the Government building railways and working them. The railways can neither be built nor worked as cheaply as by private companies, while the effect is largely to increase the patronage of the Government, and the means, therefore, of corruption.

I am in favor of the construction of public works which are necessary for the development of the country and the improvement of our great lakes and rivers, so as to lessen the risks of navigation, and cheapen the cost of transport ; and I think these should be constructed whether they are directly productive or not.

I am in favor of the greatest economy in the administration of the Government, consistent with efficiency ; and I believe that efficiency can best be promoted by a system of civil service reform which will secure the prizes of the service for those who belong to it, and which will thus ensure a certain principle of promotion based upon merit. If we would have a really efficient public service, we must make the honest and industrious public servant feel that his worth is appreciated, and that his prospects of advancement are reasonably certain.

Where, as must always be the case in a country like Canada, new offices are created and new appointments have to be made, I believe that merit and fitness alone should determine the choice. In some of the appointments recently made by the Government this principle has been sadly overlooked, and the one consideration of political service has sufficed to secure for utterly incompetent persons positions of great trust, and requiring both skill and knowledge for the duties they involved.

I believe that in the interest of good government, the patronage of the Executive should be limited as much as possible. The opposite view obtains with the present Government, and under no former Ministry has there been such a grasping of patronage as under this one. During the last session between two and three hundred additional appointments were secured for the Government, in some cases, as in the case of Official Assignees, without any warrant based upon the public interest. Heretofore the Assignees have been appointed by the respective Boards of Trade, and that they exercised the responsibility thus placed upon them wisely and well is proved by the fact that many of those named by the Government formerly occupied that position, and where new appointments have been made, it cannot be said that they have been either in point of character or business capacity, an improvement upon those whom they have displaced.

I am heartily in favor of the present election law, and have no sympathy with those who regard it as too severe. The last election for Montreal West has shown what may be done, by earnest effort on the part of a candidate and his friends to avoid any infringement of the law. This election, with the greater experience we have gained, I hope will be conducted with equal or even greater purity. The law, however, requires some amendment. The trial through which we have passed showed that it affords special inducements for that most disgraceful of election frauds, personation. Some means must be found by which this may be prevented without interfering with the protection which the secrecy of the ballots is supposed to confer upon the voter. It is important also that some more authoritative and certain count of the ballots should be made before the Returning Officer makes his return. The law should also be amended so as to prevent candidates in possession fighting off a trial by means of preliminary objections, as they do now; and, in accordance with the general spirit of the law, which is supposed to remove from the Executive the control of the issue of the writs so as to suit their political convenience, the law should peremptorily require a new writ to issue within a certain number of days after the return and certificate of the Court voiding election. These amendments would, I believe, greatly improve the law.

I believe that the best interests of the country will be promoted by strengthening the hands of the Opposition in Parliament, a vigorous and able Opposition being almost equally as important for the good government of the country as a capable Ministry. I ask, therefore, your support as an opponent of the present Administration, whose policy during the two years it has been in office, has certainly not been such as to challenge the special confidence or support of that portion of the community who care more for the country's welfare than for mere party triumphs.

Between this time and the day of election, I will have the opportunity of meeting you in public meetings, and of explaining at greater length the issues of the contest.

Hoping to be honored with your support,

I remain, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

THOS. WHITE, JR.

ADDRESS OF PETER WHITE, JR., ESQ., TO THE ELECTORS OF NORTH RENFREW.

To the Electors of the North Riding of Renfrew:—

GENTLEMEN,—

By the recent unanimous decision of the Court of Queen's Bench, unseating Mr. William Murray, it becomes necessary that you should elect some person to represent you in the House of Commons.

Having received the unanimous nomination of a large and influential meeting of electors, from all parts of the Riding, I again offer myself as a candidate for your suffrages.

You have had such frequent opportunities of listening to my public utterances, that my political opinions are well known to you, and whilst I have no hesitation in assuring you that I am now what I always have been—a Liberal Conservative—I shall always be prepared to vote for and support such measures as I believe to be beneficial to the general interests of the country, irrespective of party ties.

I am strongly opposed to the imposition of new taxes upon the people of this country, when no augmentation of the revenue is necessary to meet the current public expenditure.

I am opposed to the Pacific Railway policy of the present Government, as I am firmly convinced that their land and water scheme, whilst rendering the route utterly useless and unavailable for almost seven months in the year, will eventually involve the country in a much larger expenditure than if the road were built by a private company, subsidised by such grants of land and money as the country could well afford.

I believe that a portion of the large sums of money which the present Government propose to expend in deepening the St. Lawrence River and Canals, would be more profitably employed in opening up an additional outlet to the seaboard, for the surplus products of the West; by the improvement of the navigation of the Ottawa, Matawin and French Rivers.

I am in favor of a Treaty of Reciprocity with the United States, but believing, as I do, that in the present temper of the American people, no Treaty can be negotiated upon a basis that would be just and equitable to Canada, I am opposed to the re-opening of negotiations, until some evidence is afforded of a change of feeling on that question in the United States.

I am in favor of the greatest possible economy in the administration of the Government, consistent with efficiency; and I view with apprehension the largely increased expenditure in nearly every department at Ottawa, since the present Government acceded to power; nor do I consider it all necessary that a large and expensive establishment should be maintained in the city of London, at an annual cost to this country of $150,000, for the sole apparent purpose of affording situations to a few friends of Canada's Agent General.

I believe that in the interest of good government the patronage of the Executive should be limited as much as possible. The opposite view obtains with the present Government, and during the last session of Parliament they secured by legislation, to themselves, some two or three hundred additional appointments.

I am heartily in favor of the maintenance of British connection, and any policy having for its object the severance of the ties which bind us to the Mother Country, will receive my most strenuous opposition.

The records of the election courts during the past two years, and the Big Push letter of the great leader of the Reform party, must convince every unprejudiced mind of the utter hollowness and hypocrisy of the professions of purity by which that party sought to obtain the confidence of the people of this country.

A strong and vigorous Opposition in Parliament is almost as necessary to the good government of a country as a capable Ministry, and I ask your support as an opponent of an Administration which in the short space of two years have succeeded in violating every principle which was supposed to guide them, when in opposition, and whose policy has not been of such a character as to merit the confidence of those who care more for the country's welfare than for mere party triumphs.

That I endeavored to serve you faithfully during the short time I sat as your representative in Parliament, will not be denied by my bitterest opponent, and should you again honor me with your confidence, you may rely on my exerting myself to the best of my ability to advance our common interests.

I hope to have the opportunity of addressing you at greater length during the progress of the canvass; but as it will be impossible for me to visit each individual elector during the short time which must necessarily elapse before the election takes place, I take this opportunity of soliciting your support.

I have the honor to be,

Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

P. WHITE, JR.

PENBROKE, Dec. 27, 1875.

LETTER ON THE POLITICAL SITUATION, FROM SIR
ALEXANDER GALT, K. C. M. G., TO HON. SENATOR FERRIER.

MONTREAL, 6th Sept., 1875.

To the Hon. James Ferrier :—

MY DEAR SIR,—

In reply to your inquiry whether it were true that I intend to re-enter public life as the nominee for Montreal West of the Liberal Party, and also, to your wish that I should give you my views on existing public affairs, I beg to state that, while willing, if required, to re-enter Parliament, it would not, according to my convictions of duty, be possible for me to do so, either as a supporter of the present Administration, or as a member of the Opposition under Sir John A. Macdonald.

I continue to belong, with very many others, to that section of the so-called Conservative Party, which regretfully acquiesced in the condemnation passed by the country upon the late Administration—and I cannot blame those members of our party, who found it their duty to sustain Mr. Mackenzie's efforts to carry on the Government, which he would have been utterly unable to do if dependent only on the support of his immediate political friends. The exigency of the hour necessitated a breach in the former party, and had I then been in Parliament, Mr. Mackenzie would have received from me all needful support. This necessity has now passed away, and the Administration must henceforward be judged on its own merits, and not supported from any alleged fear that their resignation would absolutely restore Sir John A. Macdonald to power. My conviction in reference to this latter contingency is, that notwithstanding the great and acknowledged public services of that gentleman, it is impossible to ignore the circumstances that led to his defeat. I regard his election as leader of the regular Opposition in Parliament as a grave mistake, which tends to perpetuate the breach in the party, and must ultimately lead either to the formation of new party lines, or to the final adherence of many of our friends to the so-called Liberal ranks.

With reference to the views which I hold on public policy, I will now frankly state them ; to my own mind they appear of sufficient weight to over-rule all mere party engagements, and I should gladly act with those to whom they may prove acceptable.

Not to occupy space with minor matters, I may say in brief, that the two subjects which must engage the most earnest attention of Parliament are undoubtedly the engagements and expenditure connected with public works, and the measures required to provide for the same, including under this latter head, the Re-adjustment of the Tariff.

Respecting the liabilities of the country, I look with the greatest alarm at their rapid and enormous increase. Commenced by Sir John, and continued and endorsed by Mr. Mackenzie, they are augmenting in a ratio far exceeding any possible growth of our population or resources, and must inevitably soon reach such a point as will grievously press upon our industry. Though expenditure may for the moment add to the business activity of the country, and be useful at a period of serious commercial depression, yet if such outlay be not reproductive at a very early day, it is evident that the taxation incident to it will prove an intolerable burthen.

Much of this proposed outlay has, I fear, reached a point where it cannot be arrested, and, in fairness, this remark must apply to the condition of things which the present Government found on assuming office. But there is one undertaking of stupendous magnitude which may yet be considered as within control. I allude to the Pacific Railway. On this subject, much as I was opposed to the scheme adopted by the late Government, I confess I view with still greater apprehension the present policy, and I rejoice at the partial check it received in the rejection by the Senate of the Esquimaux and Nanaimo Railway.

I entirely adopt the views enunciated by Mr. Blake respecting the Pacific Railway and our relations to British Columbia prior to his joining the Government ; and if I could reasonably hope that these opinions would henceforward be those of his colleagues, I should on this subject be their supporter and follower. I consider the proposition perfectly monstrous that for the sake of the sparse population on the Pacific Coast the prosperity of the four millions of people east of Lake Superior should be arrested, and their political independence jeopardized. No one who observes the state of the country can doubt, that it is of the last importance Canada should, in its public burthens, afford a marked contrast to the United States. Cheapness is the set-off we have to offer the emigrant against the milder climate of the South. High taxation, which must be by Customs duties, approximates our condition to that of the United States, must exasperate our fellow-subjects in Great Britain, and thus by double action weaken the ties that bind us to the Mother Country, and also our inducements to maintain our own system of Government as opposed to that of the United States.

I believe nine-tenths of the people of Canada are convinced that the construction of the Pacific Railway is at this time, and will be for many long years, wholly unnecessary; they know the cost will be prodigious, and no one fit to govern the country can be ignorant of the fatal consequences of undertaking such an outlay. The frank and honest course is to tell British Columbia that the engagement was improvident, and its fulfilment impossible; to offer reasonable equivalents for its abandonment, and failing agreement, to intimate our acquiescence in her retirement from the Confederation. She cannot complain that the connection has thus far been injurious to her: she would still remain in the Empire, and subject to the Queen. I do not consider between members of the same Empire public faith can be construed to entail the most disproportionate sacrifices by the greater for the less, even if not involving both in common ruin. Public faith, in my opinion, is in a much more sacred way pledged to the public creditor, and it is certain that an enormous increase of debt, attended by exhaustive taxation, would most seriously affect his position.

It is, however, certain that even were the Pacific Railway disposed of, the other engagements made and pledges given respecting the Canal system and other works will task all the resources of the country for years to come. And we are brought to face these liabilities with depressed trade and industry, and consequently a failing revenue. The problem is not an easy one, and as increased taxation appears inevitable, the re-adjustment thereof becomes the leading question of the day.

Free Trade and Protection, as abstract principles, are both alike inapplicable to Canada, from its situation and circumstances. Without entering upon any argument on their merits, it may be sufficient to point out that Thorough Protection would certainly sever the connection with Great Britain,—destroy our principal source of revenue, and thus induce direct taxation: while Perfect Free Trade would annihilate many valuable branches of industry, and necessarily cause the immediate substitution of direct taxes in lieu of Customs duties, to an extent that, in my opinion, would be unbearable.

Though a Free Trader theoretically myself, I have always recognized the necessity and advantage of adapting the application of principles, in themselves sound, to the circumstances of our country, the habits of our people, the conditions of our climate, and our political relations to Great Britain and other countries. My views on this subject have ripened, but have been in no respect changed since, in 1859, I then arranged the Tariff, and subsequently modified it in 1866. The Policy adopted then, and which to a large extent remains in force still, was popularly known as Incidental Protection, though it might more appropriately have been termed Modified Free Trade.

Under this system of revenue, it is well known that our manufacturing interest has grown to its present considerable proportions; and it is in the same direction I consider a Re-adjustment of the Tariff should now be made. Sixteen years have, however, elapsed since that Tariff was passed, and within that period much has occurred to render a thorough revision necessary. Our Confederation now embraces a vastly greater and more varied area,—our relations to Great Britain are happily unchanged commercially; but as regards the United States, their Civil War, with its results upon the taxation and currency of that country, have caused most material changes, which may require corresponding legislation on the part of Canada.

Without presuming to anticipate the direction of specific action, I think that it is the duty of our Parliament broadly to lay down the rule that in the imposition of duties to be paid by our own people, the interests of Canada should be the ruling consideration. We cannot and ought not to ignore the interest which our fellow subjects elsewhere have in our revenue policy. But as regards the United States, I frankly declare that they ought to be dealt with in the same purely selfish spirit with which they treat us.

For my part, I am heartily tired of efforts at conciliating the United States commercially—they meet with no response, and even existing Treaties and laws are administered by them in a spirit of petty but vexatious exaction. I trust that henceforward, the sole consideration will be how our Trade legislation is to affect ourselves. Possibly this course may produce a wiser policy on their part, more worthy of a great commercial nation.

I do not myself attribute the present industrial depression to any special cause within the power of our Legislature to remove; it is doubtless the result in great measure of over production elsewhere and among ourselves. But it is certainly the duty of the Government to examine the allegations of the sufferers most carefully with a view to their relief if practicable. And should such relief take the form of differential duties against the United States, I unhesitatingly adopt the position, that we have a distinct and inalienable right to impose such duties if we choose. On this point I will repeat the terms in which I expressed the sentiments of the Canadian Government in answering the remonstrances of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, on the subject of the Tariff of 1859.

“Respect to the Imperial Government must always dictate
 “the desire to satisfy them that the policy of this Country is “neither hastily nor unwisely formed, and that due regard is “had to the interest of the Mother Country as well as of the “Province. But the Government of Canada, acting for its “Legislature and people, cannot, through those feelings of “deference which they owe to the Imperial authorities, in any “manner waive or diminish the right of the people of Canada “to decide for themselves both as to the mode and extent to “which taxation shall be imposed. The Provincial Ministry “are at all times ready to afford explanations in regard to the “acts of the Legislature to which they are party—but, subject “to their duty and allegiance to Her Majesty, their responsi“bility in all general questions of policy must be to the Pro“vincial Parliament, by whose confidence they administer the “affairs of the country. And in the imposition of taxation, it “is so plainly necessary that the Administration and people “should be in accord, that the former cannot admit responsi“bility, or require approval, beyond that of the local Legisla“ture. Self-government would be utterly annihilated if the “views of the Imperial Government were to be preferred to “those of the people of Canada. It is, therefore, the duty of “the present Government distinctly to affirm the right of the “Canadian Legislature to adjust the taxation of the people in “the way they deem best—even if it should unfortunately “happen to meet the disapproval of the Imperial Ministry.
 “Her Majesty cannot be advised to disallow such acts, unless “her advisers are prepared to assume the administration of “the affairs of the Colony, irrespective of the views of its in“habitants. The Imperial Government are not responsible for “the debts and engagements of Canada, they do not maintain

"its Judicial, Educational, or Civil Service, they contribute "nothing to the internal government of the country ; and the "Provincial Legislature, acting through a Ministry directly "responsible to it, has to make provision for all these wants ;
 "they must necessarily claim and exercise the widest latitude
 "as to the nature and extent of the burdens to be placed upon "the industry of the people. The Provincial Government "believes that his Grace must share their own convictions on "this important subject, but as serious evil would have re"sulted had his Grace taken a different course, it is wiser to "prevent future complication by distinctly stating the position
 "that must be maintained by every Canadian Administration."

The above declaration was universally accepted as the sense of the country when submitted to our Parliament, and should in no respect be weakened or departed from, especially with our increased responsibilities, and still larger assumption of Imperial duties.

I trust you will find the foregoing remarks sufficiently explicit on the present condition of public affairs. I have only to add that the strength of my convictions on these subjects is such that I could not lightly consent to endorse the views either of the present Government, or of the Opposition, so far as either are yet known.

Believe me,

My dear Sir,

Yours very faithfully,

A. T. GALT.

SPEECH OF THE FINANCE MINISTER AT NAPANEE,
14 SEPT., 1875.

Hon. Mr. Cartwright, who was received with loud applause, after briefly explaining that his duties as a member of the Administration had prevented his meeting his constituents as frequently during the last two years as formerly, proceeded, as follows:—I do not propose, on the present occasion, to enter into an exhaustive review of the special proceedings of the past two sessions. My business to-day is rather to call your attention to certain broad features of public policy, interesting, I think, not only to you, but to the people of the whole Dominion, more especially at the present moment. In the first place, I wish to offer a few remarks on the peculiar position in which the present Government found themselves placed when they took office. We possessed, no doubt, one very great advantage, which I am not at all inclined to under-rate. Our appeal to the people resulted in a success which has attended the appeals of very few Ministries indeed in Canada, or elsewhere, and, but for the hearty and enthusiastic support then accorded to us, I have no doubt we should have found the duties and difficulties before us vastly enhanced. But, notwithstanding that advantage, no one who has paid the least attention to public affairs for some years back can deny that the present Ministry took office under circumstances in other respects of an extremely difficult and complicated character, and it is to that point, in the first instance, that I desire more particularly to call your attention. I have always felt it to be a real misfortune to the country, and to the Government, that our predecessors should have fallen at the last on personal charges. No doubt it would have been much more unfortunate if, after having committed such acts, they had not fallen, but I think it would have been much better for us and for the country if the condemnation had been inflicted upon the grounds of the rash and reckless policy to which they had committed themselves, and to a large degree had pledged the people of this country. Now, one misfortune arising from that circumstance was that these personal charges distracted public attention in a very great degree from the special features of their policy to which I have alluded, and did so all the more because their policy was as yet in an incipient state. It is true that they had committed the country to various enterprises as far as a country can ever be committed by the acts of its executive and legal representatives, but although it was thus committed, these enterprises were only in the stage of commencement, and there was and is very considerable danger that the minds of the people should be diverted from the point really at issue, and that they should forget, in the well merited condemnation inflicted on the late Ministry on the ground of their conduct in the Pacific Scandal, the still severer condemnation that ought to have been accorded for committing the country to such a railway policy at all. I desire that all friends of the Government and all honest-minded men throughout the country should remember that this Government is is no wise responsible for the initial stages of this policy. I have felt it my duty, on all possible occasions, for myself and on behalf of my colleagues, to disclaim all responsibility for it ab initio. We are quite ready to take our full share of responsibility for what we do in order to provide for these various undertakings, but we decline to be held responsible for a moment for acts which we protested against and opposed to the utmost of our power, and which we predicted again and again must lead to grave complications and possible disasters to the country, although we hope we may be able to avert this last result. The position of the Government is, therefore, that they ought to be looked upon as the assignees of a morally and political bankrupt firm, who had to redeem as far as possible the obligations to which those gentlemen had committed the country, and, so to speak to make the most of the assets entrusted to them; but it is a thing which should never be overlooked, that we ought not in any degree to be held responsible for the initiation of those measures. Notably was that the case in regard to one important measure on which you have several times been called upon to express an opinion at the polls—the entrance into and conditions of the contract for the building of the Pacific Railroad. I do not believe that any one can now be found to deny that that whole affair was conducted in the most unbusinesslike and unstatesmanlike manner. I never have been able to understand how men of known ability and experience in public affairs could have committed themselves to a project compelling the people of Canada to construct within ten years a railroad nearly 3,000 miles in length, through a country utterly unsurveyed, and in effect a perfect terra incognita, of which, I verily believe, they knew less than they did of the interior of Africa. It has been said that they were influenced largely by Imperial considerations, and certainly if any Colonial work had a claim to an Imperial character, it was the scheme of a transcontinental railway; but that necessarily involved the duty, on the part of these gentlemen, of conferring with the British Government before undertaking so gigantic a responsibility, and, as you know, there is not the slightest evidence or vestige of proof to show that they deemed it worth their while to ask the Imperial Government to assist in the enterprise, though afterwards, when public opinion had been freely expressed on the subject, they succeeded, by a sacrifice of our just claims for indemnity for the injuries committed on us by American citizens, in securing a guarantee in part liquidation of the expenditure they expected to incur on that account. The plain fact is that they had not the remotest idea of what they were undertaking, and if anything was needed to confirm that statement it could be found in the fact that not only did they not consult the British Government as to whether they would assist them in the matter, but they positively volunteered to give the people of British Columbia a far greater concession than the latter had demanded, and finally they utterly refused to consent to a reference to the people to ascertain whether they were really willing to undertake so gigantic a work, though Parliament was within a year of its natural dissolution, and though the final vote was carried by a majority so small that I believe the change of the vote of half of the Ministers who voted on it would have defeated it altogether. Now when we were called upon to grapple with this enterprise, two directly opposite lines of policy presented themselves—we might, on the one hand, have repudiated the matter altogether, or we might, on the other hand, have attempted to perform it in its entirety, in accordance with our legal obligations. The Government, after mature consideration, came to the decision that it was morally and physically impossible for the people of Canada to construct this railway in the terms of the contract by which they were legally bound ; but that, at the same time, it was their duty to consider the whole situation, and propose to you a plan by which, although at considerable inconvenience, and not without a certain amount of risk, it might be possible on certain conditions to construct the major part of the work, if a large extension of time were accorded to us. With respect to the first question, whether the Government were well advised in deciding not to repudiate this undertaking altogether, I think I am justified in saying that there has been a good deal of unwise criticism in certain quarters, whence better things might have been expected, as to whether the Government ought not to have utterly repudiated an engagement entered into under such terms and conditions. In any attempt on the part of a Government or country to repudiate an engagement they have once entered into, it is needless to say that very considerable

, danger to their credit must ensue; and in this particular instance I am perfectly certain that, although some present ease and comfort might have been attained, in a few years the unanimous voice of the people of Canada would have condemned us as cowards and traitors for allowing, without absolute, paramount necessity, the whole project of Confederation to be broken up and rendered useless, as it would have been if our action had led to the secession of British Columbia, or, what might possibly have followed, to the annexation of that Province to the United States. We were responsible not only to you, but to those who come after you, to preserve intact the whole Dominion of Canada as it came into our hands. In our case there was no alternative. We must have repudiated the whole, or endeavoured to the best of our power to redeem and fulfil these obligations. The decision of the Government on that question has been before you for some considerable time. We decided that we would forego the attempt to construct a very considerable portion of the railway—that, namely, which was to run on the north of Lake Superior and Lake Huron—that we would reduce the whole length of the line to be constructed to 2,000 miles, would demand double the time—practically a good deal more than double what was accorded by the first terms of union—and would annex the condition that we were not to be called upon to perform even this unless it were possible to do it without materially increasing the burdens of the people of Canada. In fact, we stated in most express terms that we would do the very thing that we are reproached for not doing, for we said that we were willing to do what we could, but were not willing to sacrifice the future of four millions of people for the sake of the inhabitants of British Columbia, though we think we are entitled to call upon you to submit, if necessary, to some inconvenience, and even to a very heavy expenditure, if by this means we can redeem your obligations. (Hear, hear.) I might as well pause to remind you that the task we have assumed in undertaking to colonize the North-West and British Columbia requires us to develop territories divided from us practically as much as the sea divides us from the Mother Country. In the earlier stages of Canadian history, as you are aware, we were not in a position to contribute much to Imperial revenue, but were rather a source of Imperial expenditure, and in some degree, of danger. The position of these territories to us is somewhat similar to ours in former days to the Empire. We cannot expect them to contribute much for some years to come to the general revenue, and for my own part I shall be very glad if they are able to raise sufficient to meet their demands for local purposes. But having undertaken the duty and responsibility of colonizing these countries and providing for their development, it is our bounden duty to do our best to fulfil the contract we made with them. Nevertheless, I have never hesitated to express my opinion that the whole undertaking was premature and unwise, and when I say it is the duty of the Government to carry it out, I desire to add also, that it was only from a sense of duty that we undertook to complete even the portion of the road we have undertaken to build in the course of the next twenty years. We had the choice of two evils, and we thought it the lesser evil to expose ourselves to a certain risk, and to incur considerable expenditure for a term of twenty years; and while I would be the last to deny that the people of Old Canada, including the Maritime Provinces, who joined us in the commencement of Confederation, have taken upon themselves a serious and weighty burden in this matter, I say also, that it is infinitely better than repudiation and its consequences. I fully comprehend the sacrifice we have had to ask at your hands. Old Canada was fast becoming one of the wealthiest countries on the face of the earth. There are very few nations which have seen their revenue expand in such a rapid manner as that of Canada has done in the last few years, and I fully admit that you have good cause to be angry that the whole result of this extraordinary prosperity was to land you in a position which, as I have said, at the best offered but a choice of evils. In proof of this, I may state that though it is perfectly true that the revenue of the country has been in a depressed condition for a short time past, and that the volume of our exports and imports has shrunk during the last year or two, the people of Canada would be able to deal with this depression with unconcern but for the expenditure they are forced to incur on account of these distant outlying Provinces. Having thus set before you the position which the Government occupied in respect of the primary responsibility for these measures, I must call your attention to the steps we have taken for the purpose of providing present wants; and here again I must diverge for a moment to invite your attention to the extreme inopportuness of engaging to build the Pacific Railway in ten years, terminating in 1881. It so happens that a very large portion of the indebtedness of Canada matures at intervals ranging from 1874 to 1881, and the difficulties of meeting our obligations have been greatly augmented by the disregard of this circumstance. It is true that these debts are at a high rate of interest, and I hope in renewing them we shall be able to do so on better terms, but no worse time could be selected for increasing our demands on the London market than the years in which these debts were maturing. The Public Accounts show that these debts are of very formidable proportions. In 1874 there matured a debt of \$1,847,000 in round numbers; in the current year 1875, \$3,915,000. Both these debts have been paid through the proceeds of the loan which I contracted a year ago in London. In 1876 there is a sum of \$1,531,000; in 1877, \$569,000; in 1878, \$5,557,000; in 1879, \$7,613,000; in 1880, \$6,111,000; and so on until the year 1885, which closes substantially this heavy list of liabilities. To the best of my recollection, on no occasion when the then Government were discussing the propriety of making this ten years' contract do they seem to have considered that these heavy payments would mature at the very period when they intended their indebtedness on account of this railway to be maturing likewise. In Mr. Tilley's budget speech in 1873 no allusion was made to this circumstance, and in his remarks on the assumption of the Provincial debt he likewise omitted all allusion whatever to it, and that simple fact will show you as clearly as anything could possibly do, the truth of my assertion, that these undertakings were entered into in a very rash and reckless spirit. Now, the position in which I found things when I was called upon to assume the office of Finance Minister was this : I found a certain deficit staring me in the face, which Mr. Tilley had acknowledged was likely to occur, and which the figures contained in his own official statement, compiled from his own Supply bill as finally voted, showed that he must have fully understood. I found, also, that a very considerable reduction in the total value of our exports was probable, if not that year, at all events in the succeeding year, and I found when I summed up the whole liabilities, the debts which were maturing, the lowest estimate of the liabilities of the Pacific Railway, and for canals and other matters, that within the space of nine or ten years the people of the Dominion would require to borrow no less than 120 millions—not all fresh debt, but all fresh money to be borrowed. That sum may not strike you at once, perhaps, as forcibly as I should desire it to do, but you will understand how large a sum it was, and how vast a responsibility it imposed on the Finance Minister, if you call to mind that the total indebtedness assumed by the Dominion at Confederation was very little in excess of 80 millions, and therefore that 120 millions represents nearly half as much again as the total debt of the country in 1867. Or take another comparison—compare our liability with the debt of England, and you will find the 120 millions to be provided by Canada, taking due account of the rate of interest which the two countries pay, and of their population and relative wealth, would probably be equal to quite 500 millions of pounds sterling to be provided by England within nine or ten years, with this further disadvantage, that we, unlike England, have no home market at our disposal, and also bear in mind that this had to be considered and grappled with from the very earliest moment of my taking office. Now, in dealing with the deficit to which I alluded, it was quite clear that my first duty was to make provision for a surplus, and, if possible, for a permanent surplus, out of which I might rely upon meeting the additional interest which would necessarily accumulate from the raising of fresh loans and meeting our debt, and from which I might, if possible, provide a fund to reduce the total burden of our debt. Otherwise it would have been almost idle for me or any one to attempt to raise money in foreign markets. The first thing foreign creditors look to is the income we possess out of which they may expect the payment of interest upon their money, and without a surplus, and a permanent one, our credit would soon have gone down in the markets of the world. While on this point I may say that whether the deficit be or be not as large as I estimated it at, I am happy to say that there is no doubt that the deficit in the first year's operations was converted into a surplus of \$880,000 (applause); and although we have not yet received full returns from the distant Provinces, and although the past year has not been a very good one (in fact was a year of considerable depression), and although a good deal of the revenue properly belonging to it was anticipated, I am happy to be able to tell you that the results of the last fiscal year will show that we may rely on a surplus of probably a full million of dollars (Cheers.) The second point which attracted my attention was the necessity of closing, as soon as possible, the great number of minor enterprises in which we have engaged—I mean by that those small undertakings which usually form a charge on the income of the country—charges for building custom-houses and post-offices at points of importance, together with harbours of refuge, and other matters of that kind. Without going into minute detail I think I may say with respect to these, that with the exception of one or two of no great magnitude, all we have done in that way has been to carry out works we found actually undertaken, but it was of great importance, in my view, to get through with all these matters at the earliest moment, so as to have our hands clear for the prosecution of the larger enterprises in which we are engaged, and it was on that account and on that account only, that we consented to swell the amount of public works chargeable to income to a very considerable sum during the past two years. I am in great hopes that in the course of the current year we may see the close of these works, and thus a great decrease in our expenditure, as intimated by me on former occasions. The third plank in my platform, so to speak, was to interdict all new enterprises of a non-productive character. I believe it would be desirable to interdict all new enterprises whatever, but if it is not possible to do that entirely, then to take care that the expenditure should be confined to those which will yield us some sort of a return. The last point was to lower the rate of interest which we were paying on our national debt, and to borrow money in London, or elsewhere, and on such terms as to provide that in raising anew the 120 millions we might effect a considerable saving. The greater portion of our debt bears 6 per cent., and if we could reduce that to $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. it appeared to me that the ultimate burden on the people of this country would be not beyond our reasonable power to bear. As to the loan, I am not going to inflict a long discussion upon you as to the various rates of interest and the relative advantages of this or that mode of forming a sinking fund, but I will just say that, first, no Canadian loan has ever been negotiated on anything like as favourable conditions, and, secondly, as far as I know, up to the present no loan of equal amount has been placed on as good terms on the London market, except on the credit of the Imperial Government alone. I do not think these statements will be impugned by any one who has examined the records of the Stock Exchange, or attended to the controversy on this subject. There was a two-fold value from the negotiation. First, the loan was intrinsically good, better than ever obtained for Canadian securities before. Secondly, it is always easier to obtain considerable sums when you offer your bonds at a discount, than when you attempt to force a loan at a premium, and it was therefore a decided advantage to get a quotation for our fours established on the English Exchange, while at the same time it secured for us a breathing space to consider the situation, and enabled us to meet a large amount of debt then maturing, and to go on for a year or more without diminishing the funds we had then in hand in this country. In effect, the negotiation of this loan, coupled with the creation of a surplus revenue and the Imperial guarantee, will account for nearly half our liabilities. From these three sources I think we may rely on nearly sixty millions—that is, extending the operation of the surplus for nine or ten years. Now, with respect to the general results of our policy, the action of the Government has been criticised in two widely different directions, by two widely different sets of critics, and though I might plead that their criticisms are mutually destructive, yet I will endeavor to deal with them separately. One set of critics—the regular Opposition, headed by Dr. Tupper—have contended that I was a mere idle alarmist. Their cry from first to last has been that there was no sort of danger of a deficit, no need of taxation of any kind or description—that I was entirely in the wrong in supposing that there was any risk of a retrogression in our imports—that I had no business to charge items to ordinary income account which they had charged to capital—and, in a word, that the country was in a condition of such great commercial prosperity that we might dismiss all fears from our minds at once and for ever. But there is another set of critics now beginning to come to the front, whose opinions are, I must admit, worthy of more serious consideration—who say the Government are to blame for not taking precautions enough, that they ought never to have consented to go on with these various enterprises which the late Government committed the country to, and in fact, that we ought to have repudiated the obligations our predecessors had contracted. I cannot, as a question of policy or morality, agree with these last gentlemen, but if they could make good their case—if they could show that what we have undertaken, on the terms we have undertaken it, is likely to inflict unreasonable burdens upon the people of Canada, they would make out a fair case for consideration against us. With respect to the first class, this is a very old controversy, particularly as between myself and some of these gentlemen. As far back as 1870 they were denouncing me in the same fashion. I dare say you are aware that shortly after that date there occurred a remarkable expansion in the revenue of the country, which continued for two or three years, culminating in the year 1873. Those who remember the speech I had the honor of addressing to the House of Commons on that occasion, will recollect that I pointed out in the very first year in which there was any considerable expansion, that in a country like Canada there was always considerable danger of these rapid expansions being followed by equally rapid contractions, and strongly advised looking to the position of the country, that we should use the revenue we were gaining to reduce our capital debt, and not be led away into supposing that it would go on increasing from year to year without check or break. After that I took the opportunity, in the most pointed manner, in the address I published to the electors of Lennox in 1872, of calling attention to the error of regarding such an expansion as any warrant for plunging into new and onerous engagements. After referring to one or two general subjects, I wrote as follows:—"We have succeeded in developing and greatly extending our new Confederation, and that too, in spite of some grave errors both in policy and administration to which I will allude hereafter; while at the same time the general prosperity of the whole country has reached a pitch which the most sanguine would not have ventured to calculate on our attaining for years to come. I need hardly say that I am most desirous of seeing this prosperity perpetuated as far as possible, and for that very reason I am the more anxious that it should not be used as a pretext for incurring all kinds of contingent liabilities in the future, to which purpose it appears to me there is no small risk of its being perverted. At the same time I desire to say expressly that although I hold the financial policy of the Government to be fraught with danger, in the event of certain not improbable contingencies, I have always admitted that the present state of things may go on without a check for a considerable period." And then I proceeded to say that "although I recognized the desirability of the work itself, I entirely condemned the reckless manner in which we had been compelled to assume the final responsibility of the construction of the Pacific Railroad within a fixed limit of ten years." I must still further trespass on your time to call your attention to the extremely different view which I and my predecessor in office took in 1873 of the position and resources of this country. I have here the budget speech of Mr. Tilley, in 1873, in the House of Commons, and I find that he on that occasion (which was practically the last opportunity we had of putting on the drag), expressed himself as follows:—"Looking at the history of the country during the last five years, in reference to its trade and commerce, its navigation, its banking institutions, its tonnage, and its exports and imports, I find that from every aspect in which I view it, I rise from the inquiry feeling the greatest possible encouragement, not only with reference to the past, but with reference to the present and to the future." That was his reading of the then situation of the country. Within a few days or weeks I had occasion to combat very strongly his proposition for assuming the Provincial debt, on which occasion I took the opportunity of stating that "I am sorry I can by no means agree with the Minister of Finance in the very glowing picture which he has been pleased to draw, both on this occasion and in his budget speech, of the present and future condition of this country." I intimated to him then, and I repeat the intimation now, that, in my judgment at least, he was committing a serious error in speaking so lightly of the extent and weight of the burden he was imposing on the country; and I added that if any mischiefs should unhappily result from the somewhat reckless course which, it seemed to me, the Government was pursuing, those evils were likely to be greatly aggravated by the special errors of their banking and financial policy. I am calling your attention to these matters because I desire to point out to you that with respect to the regular Opposition, at any rate, those gentlemen whom we have succeeded in office, no one can justly say that we did not foresee and predict the risk which this country was necessarily running if it allowed itself to be seduced into almost unlimited expenditure on the strength of the abnormally rapid progress which had continued from 1870 to 1873, but which, for that very reason, we held must soon come to a standstill. I need not further allude to the budget speech I made shortly after taking office. It is enough to say that the Opposition press, from one end of the country to the other, was filled with all kinds of abuse of the Finance Minister, chiefly on the score that he was running down the credit of the country, and was taking a depressed and hopeless view of the whole situation. Indeed, so far did they go, that they were good enough to warn me that I had rendered it impossible to place the loan I was then about to negotiate in London on anything like favorable terms. On that I think they would have done well to suspend their criticism, at any rate, until my return from England. (Hear, hear, and laughter). With respect to the other critics to whom I have alluded—those who contend that we have done ill in assuming the responsibility of carrying on these great works at all—I have simply to say that if what they really mean is, that in case we incur any serious inconvenience in fulfilling our plighted word, this country should shrink from its fulfilment, I take issue with them at once. I say it is our bounden duty to redeem our faith if we can. But if they mean that it is likely the country may again pass through a period of distress like that which occurred in 1858 and afterward, and may then find it very difficult, if not impossible, to fulfil its obligations, then, I say, we have taken all reasonable precautions against such a contingency, because we have declared again and again, even in the very preamble of the Act to construct the Pacific Railway, that whatever we are to do is to be done without materially increasing the burdens of the people. Within that limit all that we can we will do to honourably redeem the obligations placed on us, but if that cannot be done without imperilling the welfare and prosperity of this whole people, then undoubtedly we hold ourselves free to reconsider the position. (Cheers.) I desire now to speak of a subject more practically important, perhaps, than any I have touched upon. It is important, no doubt, to know who are primarily responsible for the present state of things, which is a matter for grave consideration, not unfraught with alarm ; but it is of more practical importance to know what grounds I have for saying that we can fairly and honestly (without placing too great burdens upon you) meet the liabilities we have assumed. The vital question is how far the precautions we have taken are likely to be sufficient to meet the emergency, and I am the more desirous of explaining these fully, because I am inclined to think there is a tendency in some quarters to underrate their value and extent. Now, I have never denied the fact so clamourously insisted on by the Opposition proper, that the taxation we imposed would have produced much more than I estimated it at, provided things had remained as they were in 1873-4. Their estimate, and I am not prepared to gainsay it, was that, on the basis of the imports of the current year, the new taxes would swell the revenue to 27 millions, even if no increase took place, and that if trade improved during the next year in the same ratio as it had been doing for some years back, we would receive no less than 30 millions or thereabouts. Unhappily, their financial castle, if not erected in air, was at least built on a very sandy foundation. They were wrong in the all-important point of mistaking an abnormal increase for a steady growth of prosperity, and still more unfortunately they had pledged us to a policy which would only have been justified had their anticipations (vide Mr. Tilley's budget speech) been fulfilled to the letter. For me, on the other hand, feeling quite as positive that a check must come, and that speedily, it became a question of great delicacy and difficulty how far back I ought to go to find a sound basis for my calculations. This at the best could only be approximated to. In a growing country no problem is harder than to decide authoritatively how much of its progress at any given time is honest, natural growth; how much is due to sudden, temporary causes. And while it was quite clear to me that a very considerable over-importation had taken place, and was taking place, it was equally certain that a very large portion of the increase of the last few years was fair and genuine. Every one knows that Canada had been reduced to a condition of undue depression by the series of disastrous years that succeeded the great crash of 1858, and I saw no reason for supposing that we could not count on a considerable natural growth in the long interval which had elapsed since that period. I therefore selected, in my own mind, a year equally remote from the period of depression, which terminated in 1867, and the extreme expansion of 1873-4, as likely to afford the fairest average for a series of years, and the year I chose was the ordinary, not the fiscal year 1871. On the year's imports, which are nearly as far removed from the minimum of 1868 as they are from the extreme expansion of 1873, I thought we might reckon in the main with tolerable security, making, of course, a proper allowance for the additional revenue to be derived from Prince Edward Island and British Columbia. You will perceive, therefore, that we allowed a very large margin against contingencies. Not only have we declined to reckon on the extraordinary increase of 1872 and 1873, but we have taken no account of the natural growth which might perhaps fairly be looked for in the five years from 1871 to 1876, and we have, on the other side, allowed one or two very large items of the expenditure to remain unreduced for the express purpose of completing a quantity of small works and afterwards cutting down that expenditure to very much smaller limits, as I explained when discussing the whole question of annual expenditure in my budget speech of 1874, in which I pointed out that there were good grounds for expecting a very large reduction on the two very important items of public works chargeable to income and the expenditure for maintenance of the Government railways, provided always that those roads were put in a condition of thorough repair once for all. In short, but for the unfortunate mistake committed in 1873 by our assumption of the Provincial debts, and some other pieces of extravagance of like character—which, you will do me the justice to remember, I opposed to the very uttermost of my power—I would feel very little fear of any considerable defalcation in our income in any event. As it is, that final act of imprudence has certainly deprived us of a most valuable reserve on which we could otherwise have fallen back. Nor is it easy to understand on what principle the late Government were justified even in their own eyes, knowing as they did that a deficit was inevitable, in thus wantonly aggravating the difficulty of meeting our already enormous engagements. Before sitting down I will say a few words as to the cause of the present commercial distress. In the first place, allow me to remark that it is a great mistake to suppose that Canada is the only sufferer from the commercial troubles now existing. Any one who is at all acquainted with the condition of the United States, or of commercial centres in England itself, is aware that the distress we are experiencing here is very light indeed compared with that in the former of those countries, and perhaps hardly as severe as that recently subsisting in some portions of England. I am not surprised at the tone some of the Opposition newspapers have assumed to me personally and to the Ministry on this subject. I am an old enough politician to know that hard times always tell against the party in power (applause), and I should be quite willing to allow them to fasten upon us the burden of hard times now—though we have as little to do with them as with the ebb and flow of the tides of the Atlantic—if they will only give us the credit of good times when they happily return. (Hear, hear.) But many men, ignorantly, and some, I am afraid, maliciously, are in the habit of exaggerating the power of the Government in this matter. In a free community like this the Government can do very little to influence the transactions of individuals, and control over-trading, or buying or selling. All the Government can do is at times to give a warning to a portion of the community, and sometimes to afford a certain breathing time. We were not slow to warn the people of this country that there was great danger of the expansion of trade and commerce resulting in a corresponding reaction, and to a great extent we did succeed in giving a breathing time, because the result of the loan was to postpone the withdrawal of the Government funds, which had doubtless been made use of in the business of the country, and thereby afford an opportunity for its gradual removal, though I cannot pretend to say how far that interval was turned to profitable account by the parties concerned. But beyond that it was impossible for us to go; and whoever considers the causes of the present state of affairs will see that it is one over which the Government could have no control. We have unluckily to contend at the same time with a reduction in our own imports, resulting from overtrading, and with the injury to our general business arising from the depression in the United States, which must always react upon the people of this country, seeing that they are among our best customers, if not our very best, taken as a whole; and that it is impossible in the nature of things that they should be suffering, as I am sorry to say they are, without its reacting through the length and breadth of Canada. Then, one important branch of industry, the lumber trade, is very largely dependent upon the demands of customers in the United States, and unfortunately that trade has been hit heavily in both branches; they have been unable to find remunerative markets in England for the heavier timber, and the ordinary timber, which is usually sent to the United States, is now lying on their hands in large quantities. Moreover, although I am loth to reflect on the mercantile community in any way, many men whose knowledge and experience entitle them to respect, have expressed the opinion for years back that the mercantile community were indulging very largely in over importations and over trading, and I fear some of the banks were not so prudent as they might have been, and were rather stimulating and encouraging this unlucky propensity. Here, therefore, you have several serious causes of depression, over which the Govern ment have no control, but which will work their own cure in time. They are not such as to warrant any one in imagining that we are about to go through a period of distress at all approaching those terrible years from 1858 to 1865 or 1866. As a great deal of the criticism to which we are exposed is based upon some such assumption, though rather implied than expressed in words, it may not be out of place to point out to you that Canada at present is far better able to sustain a commercial crisis, even of very considerable severity, than she was fifteen or twenty years ago. At that time there had been enormous expansion in our trade, relatively very much greater than any we have seen of late, and largely caused by the extraordinary expenditure on railway and other projects throughout the old Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada. Without going into minute details on that point, it would be fair to say that the expenditure which then took place, having regard to the wealth of the country now and then, would be almost as great as if \$200,000,000 to \$250,000,000 should have been expended on works of a like character in the last few years. That expenditure was stopped in 1858, and a reaction of great severity took place, but as there has been no such large expenditure now, there is no fear of so great a reaction. Neither should it be forgotten that the people of Canada then depended to a great extent upon their grain crop alone as the principle resource for paying their debts and meeting their obligations to foreign nations, and that this dependance had been greatly increased previously to that juncture, under the double stimulus of a succession of good harvests and of such extraordinary prices as we have never seen before or since. Now, thanks to an improved system of agriculture, our farmers are not in the habit of depending on any one crop for their support or the payment of any sums they may have to meet; while in every other respect there is no sort of comparison between the development of our resources now and then. From these facts I draw the conclusion that, although several great centres of commerce are at present experiencing considerable depression, yet, the causes being in their nature temporary, we have reason to believe they will, at no distant day be removed. There is no reason to apprehend any serious permanent depression. The great heart of the country—the agricultural community—is untouched, and until they come to share in the depression, I see no good reason to suppose that any such period of general calamity is in danger of overtaking us. In one word, just as in former times I deprecated the excessive confidence in our future which led to our entering into such large engagements, I think I have now perhaps [as much ground to deprecate the alarm which affects certain classes. As to our prosperity in the future, [I do not desire to ignore the serious difficulties under which they are labouring, but so far, except the temporary paralysis of the lumber interest, the crisis has been among the distributing rather than the producing classes of the community, and although the lesson is a sharp one, it is desirable that this excessive importation should have a check. There is no doubt that we were paving the way for serious trouble, had it gone on unchecked much longer, and I think the experience of a few years will show that it was better for us that the crisis should come now, than that we should have persevered in the course we had entered upon for any considerable time longer. I do not pretend to say that this or any Government can control events, but I do say that I have reasonable grounds to suppose that we will not in future find the revenue of the country sink materially below the limit I have named. Should it unfortunately do so—should circumstances reduce us to such a position as that we occupied once before, then the casualty which the Government provided for when they said they were not prepared to go on, if by so doing they would increase the burdens of the people, would have arrived, and it might be necessary to say that we could not for the time being proceed with those works. I trust sincerely that the occasion will not arise, but if it does, I think we may, in such an emergency, without loss of honor, plead the impossibility of redeeming our obligations. I contend, however, that until that had arisen, we would have been false to our honor and the place we occupy, if we had declared that we would not even attempt to redeem those obligations. Once before in our history a somewhat similar crisis occurred. Once before, under somewhat similar circumstances, the people of Canada found themselves plunged, through no fault of their own, but rather through the carelessness of those who were for the time entrusted with the reins of Government, in a similar position. We had our warning, and perhaps we ought to have profited by it better than we did, but, in any case, the fact that the probability of a similar reverse overtaking us was foreseen, and I may say to a considerable degree discounted in advance, may save us as a nation from a repetition of those financial difficulties under which we laboured so long. In conclusion, let me repeat once for all that in spite of all precautions I do not pretend to say that the position is not grave enough to require our most serious consideration. We find ourselves in a rapidly advancing country, immediately after a period of unusual prosperity, plunged in a sea of engagements compelling us to resort to heavy additional taxation, and even to plead downright inability to meet a large portion of them. We have in effect mortgaged our future and cut ourselves off from any considerable undertakings for some fifteen years in advance, and it is needless to add that we have, in so doing, exposed ourselves to risks from contingencies of many kinds which we can neither foresee nor avert. All I ask you to bear in mind is that the present Ministry are in no wise to blame for the initiation of this state of affairs. Practically the only serious charge against us is that we have deemed it our duty, though disapproving of those measures, to do our best to carry them into effect rather than allow the good faith and honour of Canada to be set at naught. We have at least greatly reduced our heaviest liabilities, and unless a series of very disastrous years should overtake us, I see no reason why the precautions we have taken should not prove sufficient; and if, under these circumstances, I say to you that we have no right even now to distrust the future over-much, and that there is good hope of our weathering this crisis unhurt, as we have weathered worse storms before, I think you know me well enough to be sure that I am not speaking without some reasonable warrant for the assurance I have ventured to give you.

ARGENTEUIL ELECTION.

SPEECH BY HON. L. S. HUNTINGTON, M. P.

GRENVILLE, 30 Dec., 1875.

A very influential meeting of electors of the County of Argenteuil was held at three o'clock this afternoon at St. Andrews, the former stronghold of the Conservatives of this County.

Mr. White addressed the electors for an hour, and among other things complained that he had been assailed in a Protestant county by a French speaker for his Protestantism.

Mr. Huntington followed, deprecating the raising of religious questions at elections. He said that Mr. White, having every right to exercise his religious views, like all electors, was allied in Lower Canada to a party which did not recognize this principle. The time had come when the English Protestants were allying themselves with the French Liberals of Lower Canada. This was the only reasonable alliance in the interest of free thought and free speech. Twenty years of British Protestant Toryism in Lower Canada had given birth to Ultramontanism, through which might be worked serious trouble in the future. Whatever might be Mr. White's personal views, the party with which he acted, and which would control him, was regulated by a power with whom free thought without censorship was a cardinal sin. Mr. White was really the tool of those who were fighting in Lower Canada to make the State subservient to the Church, and to declare that the only duties of the former were to allow the domination of the latter. It was useless for Mr. White to attempt to wriggle out of this position. The English members of the Dominion Parliament supported the Liberal party, the majority of those in Quebec were also being brought to the same view, and all the people in Lower Canada were declaring against the Ultramontanism of which Mr. White was the ally. The great battle was imminent; it undoubtedly would be fought, and fought soon. There was nothing for it but that the English-speaking people of Lower Canada must ally themselves with the French Liberals, who were and had always been the friends of free institutions. No more powerful aid could be afforded to the Ultramontanism of Lower Canada—the object of which was to unite Church and State, and to subordinate the latter to the former—than the election of such men as Mr. White. The struggle must come; victory would not be very difficult. The intolerance displayed by the Conservatives of Lower Canada during the last few years was the result of the fealty to them of the English-speaking people, which had strengthened the Ultramontanists. Once let it be known that the English-speaking people were not the tools of Ultramontanism, and the question would be settled, as it must be settled, soon. He repeated that the whole difficulty had grown out of the negligence of the English population to maintain the British idea of free thought and free speech. Let Mr. White stand forth in his true colors, and let the English-speaking people of Argenteuil, if they desired, send him to Parliament as the ally of the Programme and the apostle of Ultramontanism, and let them declare that the English-speaking people of this Province were no longer British—that tolerance and fair play had no charms for them, and that their highest pleasure and duty was to make the State the mere machinery for registering the decrees of the Church. He appealed to the people at this critical hour to maintain their traditions, and to send Mr. White back to Montreal to take fresh counsel from the reactionary statesmen who were dominant at Quebec, and the policy of whose masters was to plunge Lower Canada back into the darkness of the middle ages. It only required action on the part of the English-speaking people, and all would be well. They had encouraged by their carelessness the pretensions which we dreaded. Once let them assert themselves as the friends of British freedom and justice and the enemies' guns would be silenced, and the reactionists or their masters would return to the European countries, where their opinions were dominant, or elsewhere, to seek more hopeful ground for their operations. For his own part, he desired to compromise no one; he had always preached these doctrines, and would be at once prepared to resign his position if he believed the party with whom he acted were not equal to their maintenance. (Prolonged cheering.)

CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN PATRICK POWER, ESQ.,
M.P., AND HON. L. S. HUNTINGTON, M.P.

HALIFAX, January 17th, 1876.

DEAR SIR,—Whilst sitting down for the purpose of writing you on the subject of * * * * * I may, and I trust without being considered impertinent, refer to the speech recently delivered by you at Argenteuil, and which has called forth so much comment. In my humble opinion, the speech, to say the least, was injudicious.

It is quite evident that you, like a great many of your fellow Protestants, have not a very correct conception of what Ultramontanism means and really is. The prevailing idea seems to be that an Ultramontane is a Catholic of a particular kind, whereas in truth all practical Catholics are now-a-days Ultramontanes, Gallicanism being extinct. The impression seems also to be that an Ultramontane cannot be a Liberal, but must of necessity be a Tory. This is, however, far from being the case, as is shown by the very large numbers of Catholics in Canada who belong to the Liberal party. As an instance, I am myself an Ultramontane, I have always been so, and hope to continue to be so to the end of my life, and yet believe that I have been a consistent Liberal. In 1867 I was offered very strong inducements to merely refrain from offering as a candidate, but I stood firm. The result of that election was that Mr. Jones and myself were returned by a majority of 240, and that more than half the Catholic vote of the county was cast for us. I merely mention these circumstances to show you that one can be an Ultramontane and a consistent Liberal at the same time. I admit that some Catholic prelates, clergymen and newspapers may have taken an improper course in politics. If you had confined your remarks to these offenders, no one could reasonably find fault; but your remarks were unfortunately not so confined, but were calculated to give offence to Catholics generally.

To see this clearly you have only to turn to the St. John Freeman, a newspaper edited by Mr. Speaker Anglin, whom every one knows to be a decided Liberal. It is, depend upon it, a great mistake to do anything that would tend to initiate a religious warfare. Bismarck has tried it, and I venture to prophesy that the time is not far distant when Germany will suffer for it. The late Joseph Howe, in the heyday of his prosperity, tried it in this Province, and after a very brief period of success, the experiment resulted in killing the Liberal party, of whom he was then the leader.

In view of this result in Nova Scotia, where the Catholics form only about one-fourth of the population, how is a similar contest likely to result in the Dominion, where the Catholic population is nearly one-half? It ought not, I think, be difficult to see.

If you did not intend that the words used by you in the speech should bear the construction which has been so generally put upon them, and if [your meaning has been misconceived, might it not be well that you should publish some explanation? My opinion is that you ought to do so in justice to yourself and in the interests of the Government of which you are a member; but if you intended that your language should bear the interpretation that has been so generally given to it, it is another thing, and much to be deplored.

I thought it could do no harm to drop you these few lines, calling your attention to this matter, and I beg to assure you that in doing so I am only influenced by considerations for the interest of the Reform party and Government.

Yours very sincerely,

P. POWER.

Hon. L. S. Huntington,
Postmaster-General,
Ottawa.

OTTAWA, 28th January, 1876.

MY DEAR MR. POWER,—I beg to thank you for your letter of the 17th inst. The tone is fair and moderate, and such as I might have expected from an intelligent and distinguished Catholic Liberal. It is a duty, as well as a pleasure, for me to remove the doubts which you entertain as to whether my recent speech at Argenteuil was an attack on the Roman Catholics of Canada.

My speech was a political and not a religious appeal ; it was pronounced to an assemblage who well knew the character of the opposition against which the Liberal party in Quebec, composed principally of Catholics, had for years been obliged to contend. I had no intention of using the word "Ultramontane" in the sense which you (I presume correctly) give to it as comprising the whole Catholic population, and this appears plainly enough from my speech, for, while as you tell me "all Catholics are Ultramontanes," you will observe that I was declaring myself to be allied with some Catholics who were bitterly opposed by others of the same faith ; and it was to these latter that I applied the term. I employed it in a sense, perhaps not technically correct, but commonly used among my own people ; and I intended to comprise in this designation, to use your own words, "some Catholic prelates, clergymen and newspapers," who, according to my judgment, have (as you admit they may have) "taken an improper course in politics." You agree that had I confined my remarks to these "offenders" no one could reasonably find fault. I can assure you my remarks were intended, as I believe they were understood by my audience, to be confined to these "offenders" and that, so far from dreaming of attacking the Catholics as a body, I thought I was defending against the political action of certain of their co-religionists, that large proportion of the Catholic population with which it has been my good fortune to act for years. You prove to me, by your own conspicuous example, that a Catholic may be an Ultramontane and also a consistent Liberal. I readily acknowledge the facts demonstrated, and I draw from it an augury of good fortune for my country. With you, and such as you, I am prepared to struggle in the future, as in the past, for the maintenance of the principles of freedom, from whatever quarter they may be invaded, and in whatever name they may be assailed. I do not introduce—on the contrary, I protest against the introduction of—religious controversy into political conflicts, and I believe that Catholic and Protestant may, and should, agree or differ on these political questions, altogether irrespective of their religious opinions, and that any other line of action would be subversive of our institutions.

I trust that by these explanations your difficulty about my recent utterances may be removed, and I beg again to thank you for your able and considerate letter.

I remain very faithfully yours,

L. S. HUNTINGTON.

P. Power, Esq., M.P., Halifax.

CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN HIS GRACE ARCHBISHOP LYNCH AND THE PRIME MINISTER.

TORONTO, Jan. 20, 1876.

Hon. A. Mackenzie, Premier of the Dominion of Canada.

HON. AND DEAR SIR,—

I think this an opportune time to inform you and your Government that priests in our Archdiocese are strictly forbidden to make the altar or pulpit of their churches the tribune of political harangues for or against any party or candidate for election, or to threaten any spiritual disability for voting with either party.

Priests may, of course, instruct their people on the conscientious obligation of voting for the candidate whom they judge will best promote the interests of the country; of taking no bribes; and of conducting themselves at the elections in a loyal and peaceful manner; but they are not to say to the people from the altar that they are to vote for this candidate, and reject the other. It would be very imprudent in a priest whose congregation is composed of Liberals and Conservatives to become a warm partizan of either political party. It would neutralize his influence for good in too many instances, and a priest requires all he possesses to forward the interests of his whole congregation.

It is true that a priest in his ordination does not renounce his rights of citizenship, nor does he receive authority to impose on his congregation his own particular views of politics. The Catholic Church asks no especial favor from any party. Her existence is independent of both. She asks only that her people be put under no unjust restraint or ban. It is true that the old legislation of England made the Catholic religion a bar to political and almost social existence, and though wiser counsels now prevail in Courts and Parliaments, yet some of the Protestant populace, and an occasional statesman in his individual capacity, so long educated in the traditions of the past, retain a deep-rooted prejudice and suspicion, not easily conquered, that the Catholic religion should yet be a bar to preferment, and that the Catholic Church is inimical to free institutions and unfavorable to State rights. There is still the reproduction of the Pagan cry, "The Christians to the beasts!" or the old Jewish accusation, "We have found this man perverting our nation, and forbidding to give tribute to Cæsar." The Catholic Church asks only liberty to do good, and to be untrammelled by unjust laws in the exercise of her divine rights. I might here remark that when, in a free country, religious and sacred rights are brought into the arena of politics, then the Catholics have to follow them to the polls and contend there for their rights, as in the case of education. We believe that parents have a perfect right to educate their children as they please. "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he becomes old he will not depart from it." Hence, when the Catholics of Lower Canada conceded the rights of separate education to the Protestant minority of Lower Canada, the Catholic minority of Upper Canada claimed the same right, but had to contend for this right at the elections, and thus religious questions are dragged out of their sphere. The Catholic does not permit his religion to hinder the prosperity of the country, or the peaceful exercise of a different religion to his neighbors. When his religious principles are safe, the Catholic, under the impression that party government is a lesser evil, gives his support to that which he thinks will perform its duties for the greater good of the country, and the happiness of the people.

I am, Hon. Sir,

Your very obedient Servant,

JOHN JOSEPH LYNCH,

Archbishop of Toronto.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26, 1876.

MY LORD,—

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your Grace's letter of the 20th inst. I thank you for the information you convey to the Government that priests in your archdiocese are strictly forbidden to make the altar or pulpit of their churches the tribune of political harangues for or against any party or candidate for election, or to threaten any spiritual disability for voting with either party; and for the statement of your general views as to the rights and duties of priests and of the people in such matters.

I believe that the country at large will receive with great satisfaction this exposition of your views.

It is a fortunate circumstance that the form of the Canadian constitution renders it difficult, if not impossible, to bring questions of religion into our political arena, where the subjects proper for debate are purely secular, and where, consequently, men of opposite religious views find no difficulty whatever in uniting in the conduct of public affairs.

The general principles of the party of which I am the leader are well known and thoroughly settled. They include the independence of Church and State, the amplest recognition of civil as well as religious liberty, and the accordance of impartial justice and equal rights to every individual, irrespective of his religious creed or his political faith.

These are the principles on which the present Government has conducted, and intends to conduct, public affairs; and I believe they are such as should enlist the sympathies and attract the support of all right-thinking men.

With the renewed expression of my thanks for your communication,

I am, my Lord,

Your obedient Servant,

A. MACKENZIE.

His Grace the Archbishop of Toronto.

TABLE OF TITLES.

Governor General of Canada to be styled "His Excellency."

Lieutenant-Governors of Provinces to be styled "His Honour."

Privy Councillors of Canada to be styled "Honourable" and for life.

Senators of Canada to be "Honourable," but only during office, and the title not to be continued afterwards.

Legislative Councillors in the Provinces not in future to have that title ; but gentlemen who were Legislative Councillors at the time of the Union (July 1, 1867) to retain their title of "Honourable" for life.

[Mem.—The title, though without precise warrant, has generally been conceded to the Legislative Councillors apptd. at the time of the Union, as well as to their colleagues who had previously been Councillors.]

By a mere lapsus pennæ the Speaker of the House of Commons was omitted from this list—an omission, we believe, not yet rectified, though usage—which becomes law where none exists opposed to or superseding it—has always conceded the title to him.

Rules of both Houses of Parliament

RESPECTING THE LIBRARY OF PARLIAMENT.

A proper catalogue of the books belonging to the Library shall be kept by the Librarian in whom the custody and responsibility thereof shall be vested ; and who shall be required to report to the House through Mr. Speaker, at the opening of each Session, the actual state of the Library.

No person shall be entitled to resort to the Library during the Session of Parliament except the Governor General, the members of the Privy Council, and of the Senate and House of Commons, and the Officers of both Houses, and such other persons as may receive a written order of admission from the Speaker of either House. Members may personally introduce Strangers to the Library during the daytime, but not after the hour of seven o'clock, P.M.

During a Session of Parliament, no Books belonging to the Library shall be taken out of the Building, except by the authority of the Speaker or upon receipts given by a Member of either House.

During the recess of Parliament, the Library and Reading Room shall be open every day in each week, Sundays and Holidays excepted, from the hour of ten in the morning until three in the afternoon; and access to the Library shall be permitted to persons introduced by a member of the Legislature, or admitted at the discretion of the Librarian; subject to such regulations as may be deemed necessary for the security and preservation of the collection; but no one shall be allowed to take any Book out of the Library except Members of the Legislature, and such others as may be authorized by the Speaker of either House.

During the recess of Parliament, no Member of either House not residing at the seat of Government, shall be at liberty to borrow or have in his possession at any one time more than three works from the Library, or to retain the same for a longer period than one month.

No other person who may be privileged by card from the Speaker of either House to borrow Books from the Library shall be allowed to have in his possession more than two Books at any one time, or to retain the same longer than three weeks, and all such persons shall return the Books so taken when required by the Librarian.

No books of reference, or Books of special cost and value, may be removed from the seat of Government under any circumstances.

At the first meeting of the Joint Library Committee at every Session of Parliament, the Librarian shall report a list of the Books absent at the commencement of the Session, specifying the names of any persons who have retained the same in contravention of either of the foregoing Rules.

Regulations Respecting the Military College at Kingston.

Government and Organization.

1. The general officer commanding the Militia will be ex-officio President of the Military College.

2: An independent inspection by a Board of Visitors appointed by the Governor in Council, and reporting to the Minister of Militia, will be made once a year. Such Board will not be a permanent body, but will consist of five members, of whom three shall be members of the Militia Staff, not less than two to retire annually. The first report will be made as soon after the expiration of twelve months from the opening of the College as may be determined.

3. The Commandant shall have power to suspend any Professor, Instructor or other officer or employee pending the result of a report to the Governor in Council through the General Officer commanding.

4. The organization to be on a military basis.

5. The Commandant to be solely responsible for discipline and for the general superintendence of the studies.

6. The Commandant to have power to issue such standing orders as he may deem necessary, provided that they are not opposed to anything contained in the Act for the establishment of the College or to the Regulations approved by the Governor in Council, subject to the approval of the President.

7. The Commandant will be assisted in the arrangement of the studies by an Academy Board, composed of the Professors or senior Instructors of the different branches. The head of each branch will have the general power of supervision and inspection of the studies in his department, with the duty of reporting on them to the Commandant.

8. The Commandant will, from time to time, assemble and confer with all the Professors and Instructors of each separate branch on matters relating to it.

9. The Military Officers and Military and Civil Instructors will have the power of placing any Cadet in arrest pending the decision of the Commandant to whom a report in writing, or personally in presence of the Cadet, of the cause of the arrest will be made. The Commandant may at his discretion permit Military Officers and Instructors to award extra drill to a Cadet for a period not exceeding two days ; all such punishment to be reported to the Commandant.

10. The Professors and Instructors will perform such duties connected with the Cadet Company as may be assigned to them by the Commandant.

11. The Officers, Professors and Instructors, both military and civil, will at all times be liable to be required to afford assistance in other branches of instruction than their own.

12. The Commandant will be assisted by a Captain of Cadets, and by a Staff Officer who will have charge of the records, correspondence, stores and accounts of the establishment, and make all local payments connected therewith.

13. The Commandant will have the absolute power of rustication or removal, and also of sentencing a Cadet to lose place in the list of successful candidates for employment. When expulsion is necessary the case will be referred to the Governor General in Council through the general officer commanding Militia.

14. The Commandant will cause records to be kept of all serious punishments awarded and of the offences which have caused them, which records must be confidential and open only to the General commanding and the visitors.

15. The Commandant will inspect accounts of every description connected with the College and certify those which require it.

16. The name of any Cadet expelled for misconduct will be gazetted, and recorded in the offices of the various public Departments, in order to prevent his being admitted to any branch of the public service.

17. No person belonging to the Military College is to receive a present from any Cadet, or from the relations or friends of any Cadet.

18. No Professor or Instructor will be permitted to give private instruction to a Cadet, either during the vacations or at any other time ; or be allowed to prepare candidates for admission to the College.

Course of Instruction.

1. The length of the course will be four years. If any Cadet fail to come up to the required standard at any two periodical examinations, or be found unable to qualify in his studies, or to acquire sufficient proficiency in military exercises, he will be removed. No extension of the above period on account of absence from any cause except illness, will be granted. Cases of protracted absence on account of illness will be specially referred to the General Officer commanding.

2. The following subjects will form the course of obligatory studies —

- (1) Mathematics, including Plane Trigonometry, practical mechanics, with application of mathematics to machinery.
- (2) Fortification. Field and Permanent. Geometrical Drawing.
- (3) Artillery.
- (4) Military drawing, Reconnaissance, Surveying.

3. In addition to the obligatory course every Cadet will be allowed at his option to take up certain voluntary subjects, viz :

- (1) Higher Mathematics.
- (2) Higher Fortification.
- (3) Higher Chemistry, Physics.
- (4) French or German, (other than language taken up in obligatory examination.)
- (5) Architecture, construction, estimating, &c.
- (6) Hydraulic engineering, &c , &c.

4. No obligatory subject shall obtain a Cadet any marks unless he obtain a minimum of one-half marks.

5. No Cadet will be considered qualified unless he obtain at least one half marks in the obligatory course in Mathematics, Fortification, Artillery, Military History, Administration, &c., &c., and one half the total aggregated of the marks allotted to all the obligatory subjects.

6 No voluntary subject shall gain a Cadet any marks unless he obtain a minimum of at least one third of the marks assigned to that portion of it in which he is examined. The marks gained in the voluntary subjects will be added to those obtained in the obligatory subjects and to those gained during the College Course, the whole to make a second total, according to which the Cadets shall be finally placed.

7. The final examination will be conducted by examiners independent of the College.

PRIVY COUNCIL CHAMBER,
17th December, 1875.

I certify that the foregoing regulations were on this day submitted to and approved by His Excellency the Governor General in Council.

W. A. HIMSWORTH,
Clerk Privy Council.

The Dominion Lands of Canada.

These Lands are situated in Manitoba and the North West Territories.

The system of survey is rectangular, the township being six miles square, divided into thirty-six sections of one mile square each, which latter are subdivided on the ground into quarter sections of 160 acres each.

Sections 11 and 29, amounting to 1280 acres, in each township, are dedicated to the purposes of public schools.

Sections 8 and 26 in each township represent the one-twentieth reserved throughout the "fertile belt" to the Hudson Bay Company, under the Deed of Surrender.

Dominion lands open for sale or settlement may be purchased for cash at one dollar per acre, may be entered by Military Bounty Warrant, or may be entered as homesteads for actual settlement.

Homestead settlers pay a fee of $10.00 at the time of entry for the land, and are required to reside upon and cultivate the quarter-section entered as a homestead, for three years, upon which they get a patent free.

The homestead settler has also the privilege of entering for an adjoining quarter-section of land as a homestead reserve, of which he is admitted into immediate possession and cultivation, and for which, on the completion of his homestead conditions, he may acquire the full title on the payment of One dollar per acre.

Coal lands are not subject to the operation of the Homestead provision of the Dominion Lands Act.

Persons desiring to carry on Coal mining in unsurveyed territory, may apply to purchase, sending forward the description by a Dominion Land Surveyor, setting forth generally the situation and dimensions of the land, and accompanying the same by the price thereof, estimating the number of acres, which shall not exceed 640, at the rate of one dollar per acre.

The Minister of the Interior, with the view of preventing undue monopoly in Coal lands, may, in his discretion, on a township being surveyed, exempt from sale and settlement the lands in such township containing Coal, excepting those on which mining may have been carried on under the above regulations, and may subsequently sell or otherwise deal with the same in such manner as may be deemed expedient by the Governor in Council.

The Dominion Lands Act is not intended to apply to territory over which the Indian title may not at the time have been extinguished.

The above is merely a synopsis of the law embracing the policy connected with the Administration of the Dominion Lands. Persons wishing more full and complete information are referred to the Dominion Lands Act.

All communications relating generally to the Dominion Lands to be addressed to the Minister of the Interior, at Ottawa.

All specific applications to enter Surveyed Lands should be addressed to the agent of Dominion Lands, Winnipeg, Canada.

By Order.

J. S. DENNIS,
Surveyor-General.

QUEEN'S PRINTER.

OTTAWA, February, 1876.

Government Railways of Canada.

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Extending from Quebec down the valley of the St. Lawrence, the Metapedia and Restigouche Rivers, and the Bay of Chaleurs, to Halifax and St. John, will be opened throughout about the 1st JUNE, 1876.

Express Trains will then run between Quebec and Halifax in about 24 hours, being 18 hours less than the time at present occupied.

The scenery along the Line is most picturesque, and the sea bathing on the Lower St. Lawrence and the Bay of Chaleurs is unsurpassed on this continent.

The Prince Edward Island Railway

Is also open, and presents great inducements to tourists and pleasure seekers.

The climate of the Island is cool and bracing in the hottest weather, and the railway enables travellers to reach every part of the Island. There are several good hotels, where summer travellers can get good accommodation.

These Railways open up new routes for summer journeys, and, in addition to the beautiful scenery through which they pass, afford access to the best salmon and sea trout fishing in the world.

OTTAWA, January, 1876.

CUSTOMS CIRCULARS.

The Customs Circulars for 1872, related to :—
Customs Circular No. 73, January 31st, 1872—
Ordered that all invoices of Littlefield and Chamberlin's "Wood Screws," dated since Dec. 27th, 1871, filed with the old discount of sixty per cent , must have added to them a value for duty of twenty-four per cent.

Customs Circular No. 94, 12th February, 1872, states that by the decision of the Treasury Board the article of "Shoddy," properly of "Shoddy Wool," is liable to a duty of 14 per cent., ad val.

Customs Circular No. 95.—In consequence of complaints from Clifton and other frontier ports all collectors were ordered to return all manifests by mail, immediately, after the goods they represent have been secured by the Collector ; the Collector affixing the official stamp as well as signature.

Circular No. 96 decides that "Bristol's Sarsaparilla," and all similar compounds containing spirits, are subject to a duty under the present tariff at the rate of $1.20 per gallon, with an ad valorem duty of 15 per cent. on bottles and packages; and the Department having ascertained that these articles have been entered at several ports as proprietary medicines at 25 per cent. ad val., the Minister of Customs instructs Collectors to allow whatever of stock may remain in bond, to be entered for duty at the said ad val duty of 25 per cent., but that all future importations must pay the specific duty of $1.20 per gallon, and 15 per cent. on bottles &c, or unless an alteration is effected in the law.

Customs Circular No. 97, March 18th, 1872.—Recites that there has been diversity of practice at different ports respecting the item of marble, as to admitting it free of duty. The circular goes on to recite, that there are two classes of marble mentioned in the act; the first being "blocks" which means all pieces capable of subdivision, by sawing into two or more slabs of not less than two inches thick, and such slabs to be entitled to free entry, must not have undergone any process of manufacture beyond the terms of the Tariff, viz: "sawn on two sides only." All "blocks" specially shapen

'such as round, octagon or tapering being subject to the ad valorem duty of 15 per cent. The second class is described as "slabs," and may be defined as oblong or square pieces not over inches thick, not especially shapen, which must have undergone no other process than sawing, and having at least two edges rough—the term "edges" applying either to the sides or ends, and it should be remembered that any planing or other preparation for the manufacture of "Headstores," "Mantel Pieces," &c., render such "slabs" liable to ad valorem duty of 15 per cent. I am, Sir, your obedient servant. R. S. M. BOUCHETTE, Commissioner of Customs.

Customs Circular No. 93, March 27th, 1872—Provides for a system of glass seals, for the security of bonded and unaccustomed goods, carried in the cars of the Grand Trunk and Great Western Railway Companies.

Customs Circular No. 93. May 3rd, 1872—Requests returns of Steam Fire Engines imported.

Customs Circular No. 100, May 5th, 1872—Informs Collectors that "Foundry Facings" are alleged to have been admitted free of duty at many ports of the Dominion under the name of "Black Sand," and state that "the Sand" mentioned in Schedule C. of the Tariff, is a natural, while the "Foundry Facings" is manufactured from "Sea Coal," "Charcoal," "Plumbago," and other minerals, and is legally liable to duty at 15 per cent. ad valorem as unenumerated.

Customs Circular No. 101, May 12th, 1872—Informs Collectors that it is not considered necessary that they should be required to compile and forward annual import returns.

Customs Circular, No. 102, May 27th, 1872—Advises with directions the sending of Sealed Locks to be substituted for Bar and Shackle Locks for the Grand Trunk and Great Western Railways, with directions for use.

Customs Circular No. 103, June 8th, 1872—Provides for the refund of Tea and Coffee Duties under the Act of last Session.

Customs Circular No. 104, June 13th, 1872—Gives further detailed instructions as to the refund and re-entry of "Tea and Coffee" duties on the same subject.

Customs Circular No. 105. June 18th, 1872—Gives further instructions.

Special Customs Circular, June 21st, 1872—Allows Post Masters to act in certain cases as Custom

Officers for re-loading and re-warehousing packages of "Tea and Coffee."

Customs Circular No. 106, June 21st, 1872—States that by Order in Council on the exportation of "Needles" which have paid duty on importation to be used with "Sewing Machines" manufactured in the Dominion, the duties so paid on the Needles shall be refunded when the Sewing Machines are exported from Canada together with such imported Needles. I am, Sir, your obedient servant, R. S. M. BOUCHETTE, Commissioner of Customs.

Customs Circular No. 107, August 17th.—Referring to Circular No. 9, on the subject of discount on Littlefield and Chamberlin's "Wood Screws," states that a further reduction from fifty to thirty per cent. has been allowed by that firm, and stating that this reduction is equivalent to an advance upon the net cost of the screws of forty per cent. The duty is to be collected accordingly.

Customs Circular No. 108, 6th November, 1872.—Orders Collectors in consequence of the difference of opinion at several different ports of entry, respecting "Calf-Skins" or "Kip," to charge 15 per cent. ad valorem on calf or kip, weighing less than 50 lbs., as being unenumerated, and 19 per cent. ad valorem on calf or kip weighing 50 pounds or more per dozen, such skin being generally known in trade as upper leather, and as such chargeable with the lower duty under the Tariff.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

R. S. M. BOUCHETTE.

Customs Circular No. 109, 2nd December, 1872
 —Refers to the sending of returns to the Department.

Customs Circular No. 110, 7th December, 1872
 —An order of the Governor General, in Council, dated 14th May last, having reference to the mode of establishing or computing the tonnage of foreign vessels entering or clearing at any of the ports in this country, and subject by law to the payment of tonnage dues when so entering or clearing, has ordered and directed that such tonnage dues shall be levied and collected upon the tonnage of such Foreign vessels, as computed in accordance with the rules laid down in Part 2 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854—that is to say, in accordance with the British Measurement of such tonnage, and you are therefore to be governed hereafter by the Rules so laid down, should you not already have adopted it in the collection of tonnage dues at your port. It will therefore be your duty to cause Foreign Ships trading at your port subject to the payment of tonnage dues, to be measured under the Rules prescribed by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, referred to; but whenever such ships have been previously measured at any port in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and that satisfactory evidence of that fact shall be produced to you, you are to be governed by the British measurement so shown to have been made. I have also to call your attention to the fact that certain Foreign Countries have adopted the British mode of computing the tonnage of ships; you are not called upon to re-measure the ships of such countries, but that you are to be governed by the Tonnage as shown by the Registries of such ships. The only countries so far, that have adopted the Rule of Measurement laid down by the Imperial Merchant Shipping Act, are Denmark and the United States of America, official notice of which has been given to the Government of Canada, and is now communicated to you for your future guidance in such cases. I am, Sir, your obedient servant, R. S. M. BOUCHETTE.

Order in Council, December 24th, 1872—Orders, in conformity with the provisions of the Act of last Session, that from and after the first day of January next, a duty of ten per cent. is authorized, and it is to be collected on Tea and Coffee imported into Canada from the United States.

Circular 86, 1871, transmits forms of declaration and certificates for importers of Machinery entitled to exemption of duty, under the Act 34 Victoria, cap. 10. Said forms are as follows :

IMPORTERS' DECLARATION.

I.....the Importer of the Machinery following, viz :—

Circular No. 87, applies to Province of Ontario only. It exempts vessels in Ontario from duty for the Sick and Distressed Mariner's Fund.

Circular No. 88 is as follows :—

CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT, Ottawa, 16th October, 1871.

SIR,—A different mode of weighing Cigars for duty appearing to exist at the several Ports of Entry in the Dominion, it has been considered advisable that, with a view to uniformity, the weights of Cigars should be ascertained by the selection of two lots of ten (10) boxes each, of every brand—a practice which is now followed at the Port of Montreal, and which is found to give satisfaction to importers. You will therefore conform to this rule. I am, Sir, your obedient servant, R. S. M. BOUCHETTE, Commissioner of Customs.

ISAAC BURPEE,

Minister of Customs.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING THE VERIFICATION AND TESTING OF GAS AND GAS METERS under the Acts 36 Vic., chap. 48, and 38 Vic., chap 37.

1st. Copies of all models deposited in the Department of Inland Revenue, and legalized by the Order in Council of 15 December, 1874, having been verified under the direction of the Minister of Inland Revenue, such copies shall hereafter be known as "Local Gas Standards," and a sufficient set thereof shall be placed in such places as may be necessary, for carrying out the provisions of the Acts above cited, in suitable offices provided for that purpose.

2nd. The "Local Gas Standards" shall be placed in the custody of duly appointed Inspectors or Deputy Inspectors, who shall be responsible for their safety, and shall have sole possession of them; and it shall not be lawful for any person—except such as are duly authorized thereto—to have access to or use any of the said "Local Gas Standards."

3rd. Whenever there is reason for supposing that any of the said Standards have become inaccurate—as to which the Inspector of Gas or some superior officer of the Inland Revenue Department shall be the sole judge—such Standards shall be tested by such portable Instruments as may be determined by Departmental Regulations, or the Standards supposed to be defective may, if deemed necessary by the Department of Inland Revenue, be removed to Ottawa and verified by the original models.

4th. When Gas Meters have been verified and found to be correct within the limit of error tolerated by the Statute, the Inspector or Deputy Inspector shall affix a seal thereto, which seal shall be of wax bearing such device as may be directed by departmental regulations.

5th. PRIVY COUNCIL CHAMBER,

OTTAWA, 11th February, 1876.

I hereby certify that the foregoing regulations respecting the verification and testing of gas and gas meters with the schedules thereto annexed, were submitted to and approved by His Excellency the Governor General in Council, on the 10th day of February instant.

W. A. HIMSWORTH,

Clerk Privy Council.

Inspection of Weights and Measures, and Gas.

The Acts XXXVI. Vic., Caps. 47 and 48, will go into operation on the 1st of July, 1875, under the proclamation published in the Canada Gazette of 26th December, 1874.

After that date all duties of Excise heretofore computed by the old Wine gallon will be computed—as provided in the Acts above cited—by the Imperial gallon, and the rate of duty per Imperial gallon will be as follows :

On Spirits, subject to 75 cts. per Wine gallon,
90 cents per Imperial gallon.

On Petroleum, subject to 5 cents per Wine gallon,
6 cents per Imperial gallon.

On Beer, brewed from other material than malt, $3\frac{1}{4}$ cents per Wine gallon, 3 and nine-tenths per Imperial gallon.

It will be observed that, in accordance with the provisions of the law, the rate of duty per Imperial gallon is arrived at, by adding one-fifth of the rate per Wine gallon.

Quantities stated in Wine gallons may be reduced to Imperial gallons by deducting one-sixth, or the quantity stated in Imperial gallons may be reduced to Wine gallons by adding one-fifth, thus :—

20 Imperial gallons = 24 Wine gallons.

24 Wine do = 20 Imperial do.

Such notices shall be continued in each case for a period of at least two months during the interval of the time between the close of the next preceding Session and the consideration of the petition.

ROBERT LEMOINE, Clk. Senate.

ALFRED PATRICK,

Clk. of House of Commons.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE, OTTAWA.

Monday, 13th day of September. 1875.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE ADMINISTRATOR OF THE GOVERNMENT IN COUNCIL.

ON the recommendation of the Honorable the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and under the provisions of the 16th section of the Act passed in the Session of the Parliament of Canada, held in the 31st year of Her Majesty's Reign, chaptered 65, and intituled "An Act respecting the Inspection of Steamboats, and for the greater safety of passengers by them," as amended by the 2nd section of the Act 32 and 33 Victoria, Chap. 39, and the 2nd, 5th and 7th sections of the Act 37 Victoria, Chap. 30, His Excellency, by and with the advice of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada has been pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that the following Rules and Regulations respecting Life Boats, Yawl Boats and Fire Extinguishers on Steamers, passed by the Board of Steamboat Inspection at Ottawa, on the 19th day of November, 1874, be and the same are hereby approved and adopted, that is to say :—

RULE I.—The Life Boat required by Section 16, 31 Victoria, Chap. 65, may be considered of sufficient capacity, if made of the following dimensions :

	ft.	in.
Length of Keel.....	22	0
Breadth of Beam from metal to metal	5	6
Depth from top of Keel to top of
Gunwale.....	2	9

RULE II.—The Life Boat required by Section 5 of the amended Act 37 Victoria, Chap. 30, may be considered of sufficient capacity, if made of the following dimensions :

	ft.	in.
Length of Keel.....	18	0
Breadth between metal and metal...	5	2
Depth from top of Keel to top of
Gunwale.....	2	2

RULE III.—The carrying capacity in number of persons of Yawl Boats shall be determined as follows, viz :

By multiplying the length of the Keel by the breadth and by the depth from top of Keel to Gun-wale in feet, and then dividing the product by ten, the quotient will be the number of persons allowable to each boat.

RULE IV.—It is hereby required that the following number of Chemical Fire Extinguishers shall be carried on board Steamboats of the under-mentioned sizes and classes, viz :—On every Freight and Tug Steamboat of more than one hundred tons gross measurement, one such Extinguisher.

On every Freight and Tug Steamboat of more than five hundred tons, two such Extinguishers.

On every Steamboat of the gross tonnage of one hundred tons and upwards, but less than 300 tons, carrying passengers, two such Extinguishers.

On every Steamboat of the gross tonnage of three hundred tons and upwards, carrying passengers, three such Extinguishers.

On every steamboat employed chiefly in the carriage of Freight, when not carrying more than fifty passengers. two such Extinguishers.

Clerk Privy Council.

NOTICE.

Births, Marriages and Deaths.

To Parents, Occupiers, Guardians, Medical Men and Clergymen.

By 39 Vic., cap. 3, Statutes of Ontario, all Births, Marriages and Deaths, which take place throughout the Province of Ontario, are required to be Registered with the Clerk of the Municipality in which such Birth, Marriage or Death happens.

The person required to report a Birth is the Father or Mother of the Child; or in case of the inability of both parents any person standing in the place of the parents, or if none, then the occupier of the house or tenement in which such child was born, or the nurse present at the birth. (The term occupier shall be construed to mean and include the Master, Governor, Keeper, Warden or Superintendent of Gaol, Prison, Penitentiary, Lunatic Asylum, Poor Asylum, Hospital or other public or private charitable institutions). Registration must be made within thirty days after birth.

The person required to register a Marriage is the Clergyman who celebrates it, and his report must be furnished within ninety days after the date of such Marriage.

The persons required to register a Death are the Physician who may have attended the deceased professionally during his or her last illness, the occupier of the house in which the death occurs, and the Coroner who may have attended any inquest held on such person, and the return must be made before the interment of the body. Any Clergyman or other person performing any religious service for the burial of any dead body without receiving a certificate that the particulars of the death of such person have been registered, is also required to make a return thereof within seven days after such burial.

Refusal or neglect to make these reports, or any one of them, within the specified time, will subject the person or persons so neglecting or refusing to a Penalty of Twenty Dollars and Costs.

The officers administering the Act in the different Divisions have been instructed to strictly enforce its requirements, and to prosecute all persons who fail to comply with its provisions.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANK, CANADA.

1. 272 Post Office Savings Banks in Ontario and Quebec are open daily for the receipt and repayment of deposits, during the ordinary hours of Post Office business.

2. The direct security of the Dominion is given by the Statute for all deposits made.

3. Any person may have a deposit account, and may deposit yearly any number of dollars, from $1 up to $300, or more with the permission of the Postmaster General.

4. Deposits may be made by married women, and deposits so made, or made by women who shall afterwards marry, will be repaid to any such woman.

5. As respects children under ten years of age, money may be deposited—

FIRSTLY— By a parent or friend as Trustee for the child, in which case the deposits can be withdrawn by the Trustee until the child shall attain the age of ten years, after which time repayment will be made only on the joint receipts of both Trustee and child.

SECONDLY—In the child's own name—and, if so deposited, repayment will not be made until the child shall attain the age of ten years.

6. A depositor in any of the Savings Bank Post Offices may continue his deposits at any other of such offices, without notice or change of Pass Book, and can withdraw money at that Savings Bank Office which is most convenient to him. For instance, if he makes his first deposit at the Savings Bank at Cobourg, he may make further deposits at, or withdraw his money through the Post Office Bank at Collingwood, or Quebec, Sarnia, Brockville, or any place which may be convenient to him, whether he continue to reside at Cobourg or move to some other place.

7. Each depositor is supplied with a Pass Book, which is to be produced to the Postmaster every time the depositor pays in or withdraws money, and the sums paid in or withdrawn are entered therein by the Postmaster receiving or paying the same.

8. Each Depositor's account is kept in the Postmaster General's Office in Ottawa, and in addition to the Postmaster's receipt in the Pass Book, a direct acknowledgment from the Postmaster General for each sum paid in is sent to the depositor. If this acknowledgment does not reach the depositor within ten days from the date of his deposit, he must apply immediately to the Postmaster General by letter, being careful to give his address and, if necessary, renew his application, until he receives a satisfactory reply.

9. When a depositor wishes to withdraw money, he can do so by applying to the Postmaster General, who will send him by return mail a check for the amount, payable at whatever Savings Bank Post Office the depositor may have named in his application.

10. Interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum is allowed on deposits, and the interest is added to the principal on the 30th June, in each year.

11. Postmasters are forbidden by law to disclose the name of any depositor, or the amount of any sum deposited or withdrawn.

12. No charge is made to depositors on paying in or drawing out money, nor for Pass Books, nor for postage on communications with the Postmaster General in relation to their deposits.

13. The Postmaster General is always ready to receive and attend to all applications, complaints or other communications addressed to him by depositors or others, relative to Post Office Savings Bank business.

14. A full statement of the Regulations of the Post Office Savings Bank, as well as a list of offices, may be seen in the Canadian Postal Guide.

PROSPECTUS.

The "NATIONAL INSURANCE COMPANY," of Montreal, was incorporated under an Act passed at the last Session of the Dominion Parliament, for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance. The promoters believe that there is ample room for more Canadian Insurance Companies, and that their organization will not only supply a want of additional facilities for doing business, but will serve a patriotic purpose of building up Home Institutions, keeping in the country the capital so much needed for its development.

The Capital Stock of the National is $2,000,000, (with power to increase to $5,000,000), in 20,000 shares of $100 each. Ten per cent is payable on subscription, which will give the Company, on the present capital, the sum of $200,000, which is all that is required to place the Company on a sound financial basis. The remainder of the capital is subject to the calls of the Directors, although it is not anticipated that any further calls will be necessary.
